OPPOSITION OF
BRITISH HOLDS UP
REPARATIONS
MEETING AGAIN

Optimism Over Progress
Yesterday Interrupted by Word From Lloyd George
That He Is Against Plan
Under Consideration for Delaying Fixing of Total.

CONSULTATIONS IN PRIVATE CONTINUE

Some Allied Officials Believe
Conference Is in Danger of Breaking Up—British Contend It Is Necessary to Fix Total.

By the Associated Press.
PARIS, Jan. 28.—The divergence of views of the members of the Allied Supreme Council regarding German reparations caused an interruption of the conference today, and in some quarters it is regarded as in danger of breaking up. The session of the council, which was to have begun at 4:30 o'clock this afternoon, was abandoned.

The optimistic feeling of this forenoon, when the members of the special reparations committee appointed yesterday expressed pleasure with their progress, was soon dissipated when the British Prime Minister, David Lloyd George, found the project under discussion by the committee were entirely unsatisfactory to him. He sent at once for M. Briand, President of the French Council, and conferred with him for an hour and a half. The Belgian representatives were to meet Lloyd George later regarding their proposals.

Private Conversations Continue.
The special committee on reparations in continuing its efforts to reconcile the different viewpoints, while M. Briand and Lloyd George will try to find a solution in private conversations.

The basis of the discussion by the committee was the proposal, presented by M. Jaar, Belgian Foreign Minister, that Germany be compelled to make annual reparations payments of six billion gold marks ($1,500,000,000) as a maximum and three billion marks as a minimum. As outlined by M. Jaar in a statement last night his plan would not fix the number of annual payments, but would leave that to be determined at some later time.

The discordant views on the reparations question, especially those of France and Great Britain, which were presented at yesterday's brief session, had brought about a virtual deadlock, and it seemed the "culminating period" of the conference had arrived.

It was indicated by Premier Lloyd George yesterday that the whole reparations question could not be solved at the present meeting. All that could be accomplished, he said, would be the fixing of indemnity Germany's debt and the way it should be paid. Later, he asserted, allied and German delegates would meet for a final discussion of the settlement.

M. Doumer, French Minister, and M. Briand were not convinced by the British Prime Minister's arguments, although the views of Lloyd George appeared to be favored by the Italian and Belgian representatives. M. Briand declared after yesterday's meeting that the reparations question must be settled "once and for all before Saturday night," and indicated he would not retreat from his stand that the total amount of German indemnities should not be fixed and that payment should be made under the annuity plan.

Doumer's Stand Disavowed.
The discussion on reparations was then up yesterday afternoon in an atmosphere made quite unfavorable by the radical position assumed Wednesday by the French Minister of Finance, who named 212,000,000,000 gold marks ($53,000,000,000) as the total amount of indemnity Germany should pay. M. Doumer's attitude, though practically disavowed by the press generally and supported by some of the members of the French Cabinet, caused considerable embarrassment at the conference when the subject was resumed.

The British Prime Minister is understood to have clearly indicated that the radical demands made by M. Doumer were impossible of realization.

The committee named yesterday comprises M. Loucheur and M. Doumer for France; Baron d'Ammon and Sir Laming Worthington-Evans for Great Britain; Col. Theunis for Belgium; Signor Giannini for Italy; and Kengo Mori for Japan.

Lloyd George States Position.
Lloyd George took up the whole question of reparations at the opening of the conference on Page 2, Column 4.

69,603 NEGROES IN ST. LOUIS,
58 PCT. INCREASE SINCE 1910

Census Figures Show 383,438 Men and Boys and 389,459 Women and Girls—White Persons Total 702,764.

Census figures given out in Washington today show that the negro population of St. Louis at the time of taking the 1920 census was 69,603, an increase in 10 years of 23,843, or 34.3 per cent. In the same census count the white population of St. Louis was 702,764, an increase in 10 years of 60,276, or 9.4 per cent. The St. Louis population of other races than black and white is 530.

The census figures also show the division of the St. Louis population between men and women. Men and boys numbered 383,438, or 49.6 per cent of the total, and women and girls were 389,459, or 50.4 per cent. In 1910 the percentages were reversed, the men being 50.4 per cent of the total, and the women 49.6 per cent.

Previous reports have shown that the negro population in the last 10 years increased 148.5 per cent in Chicago, 26.3 per cent in Kansas City, 24.4 per cent in Youngstown, O.; 47.1 per cent in Pittsburgh and 128.5 per cent in Gary, Ind.

The report issued today shows that the negro population of Topeka, Kan., decreased 5.3 per cent.

NINETEENTH HOLE
UNDERMINES GOLF
COURSE IN PARK

18-Foot Cavity, Six Feet in Diameter, Discovered When Player Starts to Sink.

A nineteenth hole has been discovered on the 18-hole municipal golf course in Forest Park. It is 6 feet in diameter and 18 feet deep. It isn't a deep nineteenth hole, either, as it has been filled with seepage water since its discovery.

At the Park Department today it was stated that a golfer discovered the hole recently when on the green of hole No. 5, near the grand basin of the lagoon at the foot of Art Hill, he suddenly began to sink into the ground and kept on sinking until he was in almost to his waist. Other golfers were said to have pulled him out after great exertion. The 18-hole course was then closed to the public for repairs and an examination of the ground revealed a deep sink hole.

Park Commissioner Pape said that the presence of electric plugs and switches in the hole caused him to believe it must have been used as the housing of electrical apparatus used to illuminate the Cascades at Art Hill during the World's Fair in 1904.

The hole has been boarded over and covered with earth and a search is being made for similar depressions on the links.

REPORT ABDUCTION WAS ORDERED

Official Statement on Eberbach Incident Says U. S. Officers at Coblenz Authorized Seizure.

BERLIN, Jan. 28.—The foreign office and Ministry of Justice yesterday received from the State's Attorney at Eberbach, Baden, an official document reciting the details surrounding the attempted abduction of Grover C. Bergdoll and Isaac Stecher at that place last Saturday. The official report refers to assertions by the American detectives that they were under orders of the American military authorities at Coblenz.

Until this point is definitely established, the German Government can take no action. It was said at the foreign office. Baden's jurisdiction extends only to the treatment of the episode with respect to its relation to the local criminal laws.

The detectives are charged with having represented Bergdoll and Stecher as two fugitives from justice in the United States.

Aid From Bergdoll's Cousin.
A special dispatch to the Associated Press from Eberbach said that Stecher, chauffeur for Bergdoll, who was born in Baden in 1887, retained his Badenese citizenship last December. He is reported to have served in the American regular army for 12 years.

Bergdoll's cousin, Robert Freudenberger, of Eberbach, is said to have been the man who seized the steering wheel of the automobile driven by the Americans, halted the car and effected their arrest.

The two alleged American detectives and their four German aids are still locked up in the town jail at Eberbach, according to a special dispatch from Heidelberg. The six men are now charged with illegal usurpation of authority.

Both Now German Citizens.
The attempted abduction of Bergdoll was the subject of an interpellation in the Baden Diet yesterday at Karlsruhe. Premier Remmel informed the Diet that both men had applied for German citizenship and that their petitions had been granted. He sharply denounced the procedure of the abduction party, headed by two alleged American detectives, and stigmatized the assistance rendered them by German subjects as "disgraceful."

The Premier declared that the Americans were well armed and charged them with invading German territory without consulting the German authorities or the German law. Referring to Bergdoll and Stecher, who were parents of German, he refused to take up arms against Germany.

The American officials in Coblenz, according to dispatches from the occupied area today, state that no orders for such action against Bergdoll and Stecher were issued.

"We Are Safe," Says Cable to Newspaper, Signed "Bergdoll."
PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—The Public Ledger has received a cablegram dated Eberbach, Baden, Germany, and signed "Bergdoll," which reads as follows:

"We captured six Department of Justice agents and threw them into prison. We are safe and sound. See the Associated Press report."

While Grover C. Bergdoll, draft evader, was a fugitive in this country during the war, the same newspaper received numerous letters and postcards bearing his signature.

Eugene Stecher, chauffeur for Bergdoll, is under indictment here on charges of aiding in Bergdoll's escape from army officers at his home here on May 21 last. It was alleged that Stecher made the plans for Bergdoll's flight and that he had an automobile in readiness when his employer slipped away from him.

With Stecher reported at the wheel of the motor car, the fugitives fled Government agents a wild chase across the country and finally are said to have eluded them at Winnipeg, Man. Reports received by Department of Justice agents here said that Bergdoll had stolen the service button and discharge papers of an American Legion man in Winnipeg and got a passport out of Canada.

109,274 JAPANESE IN HAWAII

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—The Japanese population of Hawaii in 1920 was 109,274 out of the total population of 255,912 and represented an increase for that year of about 33 per cent since 1910, the Census Bureau announced today.

Milk Will Drop One
Cent a Quart Feb. 1

FOLLOWING announcement by D. A. Brooks, president of the Southern Illinois Milk Producers' Association, that the February price of milk to the St. Louis distributors will be approximately 6 cents a 100 pounds lower than the present price of $2.78, representatives of the five large distributing companies today said that the retail price of milk here will be reduced from 16 to 15 cents a quart next Tuesday. Pints will remain at 9 cents.

The price paid by the distributor to the producer now is automatically fixed each month under a contract which provides that the price shall be dependent mainly upon the market price of butter fat and corn.

The reduction in the retail price is in the face of an inquiry by the Consumers' Public Welfare of the Board of Aldermen into both the purity of milk and fairness of price here. Robert L. Kayser, general manager of the St. Louis Dairy Co., testified this week before the committee that his company lost 74,100 of 1 cent a gallon on all retail milk sold during December. He also declared that a reduction of from 16 to 15 cents in the wholesale price was necessary before a reduction of 1 cent could be made in the retail price.

WOULD MAKE NEW DWELLINGS
TAX FREE TO INCREASE BUILDING

Spokesman at Housing Conference Says Exemption Should Run for 10 Years.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 28.—Tax exemption for all new dwellings for a period of at least 10 years, as a means of stimulating building, was advocated by Lawson Purdy, former president of the New York City Board of Taxes and Exemptions, in an address here today before the housing conference called by the Chamber of Commerce of the United States. Such an exemption would be a substantial inducement to builders, Purdy said, adding that it was fully warranted by the present housing shortage. He advocated that it should apply to all homes built in the next three years.

Remission of taxes on new construction could not be considered a discrimination against owners of existing property, Purdy declared, in view of the fact that construction costs are now 100 per cent above normal.

Philip H. Gadsden, president of the American Electric Railway Association, told the conference that the lack of capital required by public utility companies to equip the new homes and apartments needed in this country presented one of the most serious problems in connection with the housing situation.

DEMOCRATS PLAN TO TIE UP STATE
SENATE IN FIGHT
ON CAUCUS RULE

Republican Control of Legislation by Secret Agreement, Virtually Eliminating Minority, Resented, and Methods of Retaliation Are Considered.

LLOYD DEFENDS
POLICY IN PRACTICE

Declares Republicans Are Thus Accepting Full Responsibility for Legislation; Democratic Senators Express Their Views.

By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 28.—Democrats in the Senate, who virtually are eliminated from participation in Senate proceedings through the plan for legislation by secret Republican caucus instituted by Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd, had a caucus of their own late yesterday afternoon in an effort to decide upon retaliatory measures to force the Republican majority to recognize their rights.

While no definite decision was reached and the subject will be considered again within a few days, plans were outlined, which, if carried out, probably will result in serious delay to the legislative program of Gov. Hyde if it does not in fact accomplish the defeat of the program.

The main features of the retaliatory measures discussed were filibusters on all measures throughout the remainder of the session, and defeat of the emergency clauses of all of the Governor's bills, which would accomplish a delay of three months in making them effective.

The Republicans have not sufficient votes to adopt an emergency clause, which requires two-thirds of the Senate, or 23 votes. They have only 19. The idea of the filibuster is to offer amendments to all bills proposed and to deliver long speeches on them with the idea of delaying legislation to create a congestion at the close of the session. There remain only 46 days of the session of the Legislature, a short time in which to work out contemplated measures on education, reorganization of State departments and the many other subjects under consideration.

There is no doubt that the Democratic Senators can be very disturbing to the administration if they decide upon such a course.

In the Democratic caucus yesterday, several Senators expressed a hesitancy about taking an extreme position, though they were practically united on a determination to compel the Republicans to abandon the caucus scheme if they can find a way.

Democratic Senator's View.
One Democratic Senator, who would not permit the use of his name because of the caucus understanding, said that the caucus proceedings were not to be discussed, said:

"We do not want to delay any good legislation and we do not want to interfere with the Governor's program, but we cannot be expected to sit quietly by and let the Republicans run wild without regard for our rights and the rights of our constituents."

"It is not improbable that we would be doing the people of the State a real service by delaying much of the administration program. It has not all been submitted and we have not had an opportunity to study that portion which has been submitted."

"The Governor will need Democratic votes on the emergency clauses of his bills and one of the best ways for him to get them is to call a halt on the runaway Republican majority in the Senate. If we have to do it we will not hesitate to serve notice on the Governor and the Republican majority that we are going to have our rights, or at least as many of them as we can get, even if it is at the expense of the Governor's pet scheme of consolidation and reorganization of State departments and institutions."

Whispered by Lloyd.
Substitution of the secret caucus for the open Senate, in deciding upon the passage or defeat of important legislation, was defended by Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd, under whose control the Republican majority in the Senate has virtually eliminated Democratic Senators from having a voice in legislation. In an interview with a Post-Dispatch reporter, the

THE IRISH QUESTION
FOR AMERICAN PRESSESTIMATE BOARD FAVORS
POLICE SALARY INCREASES

Advances Smaller Than Those Proposed in Bill Are Recommended, but Would Total $298,900 a Year.

The Board of Estimate and Apportionment, at a conference this afternoon with the city's legislative agent, Harry A. Roskopf, went on record as favoring an increase in the salaries of members of the Police Department, but recommended smaller increases than those proposed in a bill favored by police officials. The recommendations of the board would mean an additional expenditure of $298,900 annually for salaries.

The board recommended no change in the salaries of the Chief of Police and Assistant Chief, which are $5000 and $3800, respectively. The increases recommended were: Chief of Detectives, $3500 to $3800; assistant Chief of Detectives, $2100 to $2400; secretary to the Chief of Police, $2000 to $2200; Berillon superintendent, $2100 to $2200; Captains, $2400 to $2500; Lieutenants, $2100 to $2200; Drill Master, $2200 to $2300; Sergeants, $1800 to $2000; patrolmen, $1500 to $1600; or $15 a month; probationary patrolmen, $1200 to $1300, or $15 a month; turnkeys, $1200 to $1300.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 28.—Judge Ferguson in Criminal Court today granted the motion of the defense to take from the jury the case of William P. Brines, charged with first degree murder in connection with the death of Elmer C. Drewes, on the ground that not sufficient evidence had been submitted to connect the defendant with Drewes' death.

Brines and Drewes were students, the latter at Dartmouth and Brines at the University of Pennsylvania. The State contended that Brines had difficulties with Drewes over money.

LEAPS TO DEATH AT NIAGARA

Unidentified Man Swept Over American Brink of Falls.

By the Associated Press.
NIAGARA FALLS, N. Y., Jan. 28.—An unidentified man is reported to have jumped into the river above the falls at 2:15 o'clock this morning and was swept to death over the American brink. The man talked to a reservation officer, S. W. Rhodes, just a few minutes before he made the leap. He told Rhodes he was from Cleveland, O.

Rhodes turned and left him looking at the falls. He was attracted by a shout, and turned back to see the man on the railing.

"Good-by," he shouted to Rhodes, and disappeared over the rail. His earnest today started a search for the body in the river below the falls.

Interview Given Out in Dublin Gives Sinn Fein View of How Settlement Might Be Reached.

By the Associated Press.
DUBLIN, Jan. 28.—The interview with Eamonn de Valera, printed in the Paris Oeuvre, is developed today, resulted from a questionnaire submitted by that newspaper to him. This questionnaire was answered at the same time that an answer was given to a questionnaire submitted to de Valera by American correspondents here, but the Oeuvre printed the interview first. The interview was given out here today.

RECOGNITION OF INDEPENDENCE, FIRST

Alliance Between Two Countries Then Could Be Formed, He Says—Points to Dominions' Freedom.

Regarding the new home rule act, de Valera says: "Like the majority of the Irish people, I have not considered it or even thought about it." As to de Valera being at Tours, France, which the Oeuvre gave as the place of interview, it has been intimated here by the Freeman's Journal that this probably was a device to permit the publication without disclosing the real whereabouts of de Valera.

"Determination Hardened."
Answering a question by the American correspondents as to whether he has noticed any change in the Sinn Fein movement since returning to Ireland, de Valera says he has seen "only a hardening of the people's determination."

He writes: "Ireland's separate nationality implies the right of the people to determine freely for themselves their own form of government and adjust as a nation their political relationship with other nations upon a common equality of rights."

Answering another question on dominion home rule he says: "As applied to Ireland, the expression has an indefinite meaning. The essence of dominion home rule for Canada, Australia, etc., is, as Mr. Bonar Law put it in the House of Commons, on March 29, last, 'that they have control of their whole destinies.' Their right to secede altogether from British connection if they desire is also definitely acknowledged." Thus, the British dominions had conceded to them all the rights the Irish republicans demand. It is obvious that if the rights were not denied us we would not be engaged in the present struggle."

Defines the Irish Question.
"The question between Ireland and England," de Valera continues, "is this: The British Empire is a foreign nation, claim the right to interfere and have the principal share in determining for us how we shall be governed. We deny their right to interfere in this matter, which is, and should be, a purely domestic question for ourselves alone. * * *

"If there should ever be a British statesman who will really desire to bring peace to the peoples of these two neighboring islands, he will approach the task in the following manner: First, acknowledge Ireland's right as a free and independent nation as a preliminary. For England's sake, as well as Ireland's, this will be necessary, for any agreement made under the duress of force or a supposed existing partnership—which Ireland denies—would not be worth the paper they are written on. Second, then negotiate with Ireland such a partnership or alliance as the common interests of both islands may suggest and on terms the peoples of both countries agreed upon."

RAILROAD UNIONS TO OPPOSE ANY CUT IN WAGES

Chief of Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers Says Men Are Not Going to Accept Reductions Now.

TO ATTEND HEARING
IN CHICAGO FEB. 10

Employees Assert They Have to Pay Just as Much as They Ever Did for What They Get.

By the Associated Press.

CLEVELAND, O., Jan. 28.—Any attempt by the Railway Labor Board toward wage reductions will be vigorously opposed by the railroad brotherhoods, Warren S. Stone, grand chief engineer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, announced.

"The men in railroad work are not going to accept reductions in wages now," said Stone. "They have to pay just as much as they ever did for what they get."

Heads of the brotherhoods will attend the hearing Feb. 10 and fight particularly any attempt to reduce wages on the Atlantic, Birmingham & Atlantic Railroad to the extent of approximately half the increase granted since Dec. 31, 1917, Stone said, and also will oppose the general move sponsored by the Labor Committee of the American Association of Railway Executives.

Railroad Executives Formulating Recommendations on Wage Reductions.

By the Associated Press.

CHICAGO, Jan. 28.—General wage reductions on the larger railroads all over the country were considered today by the Labor Committee of the American Association of Railway Executives in an effort to solve what railroad officials say is a precarious transportation situation. The meeting will make definite recommendations to the association with a view to bringing the matter before the United States Railroad Labor Board. It was preceded by railroad officers that the committee's recommendations would be for some sort of reduction in wages.

The committee's meeting is held in accordance with a resolution adopted by the association on Jan. 7. The resolution "brings to the attention of all member roads the necessity to observe all rates of pay and working conditions as now established by the United States Railroad Labor Board until the same are changed by orderly process."

"Many railroads are in bad financial condition," declared Samuel O. Dunn, advisory chairman of the association of railway executives, "this is due to a decline in business, and failure of the rates to earn the revenue expected. Railroads, during September, October and November, 1920, when they did their heaviest business, failed to earn the large net returns expected."

The 1917 payroll of $1,700,000,000 is today increased to $2,700,000,000, and as a result, many roads are in bad financial condition. Beginning with November, there has been a decline in business until the freight movement now is less than two-thirds of what it was three months ago. Apparently there is no way out except to reduce wages."

Denouncing the "national agreement" between the railroad brotherhoods and the railroad companies as restrictive, productive of inefficiency obtained by propaganda and undue influence, the railroads made formal request yesterday to the Railroad Labor Board for abrogation of the existing agreements.

T. F. Whitner, chairman of the Railroad Labor Board, before the board in his hearings on rules and working conditions, declared the public "pays in freight and passenger rates all the expenses incurred by the railroads" due to such inefficiency.

St. Louis Mills Employing 3500, Closed Three Months, to Reopen.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 28.—An announcement was made today that the mills of the E. I. du Pont & Co. K. I. du Pont & Co. at Shreveport, La., and at other points, would resume work next Monday, after a layoff of three months. Thirty-five hundred operations are affected. Nothing was said in the announcement about wages, but it is understood a reduction of 25 per cent from old rates will be put into effect.

Lackawanna System to Lay Off 10 Per Cent of Its Men.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 28.—An announcement is made at the general offices of the Lackawanna, Lackawanna & Western Railroad in this city that commencing Monday 10 per cent of the men employed in shops of the company throughout the entire system would be laid off. This is the first time that the Lackawanna has laid down its working forces.

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., Jan. 28.—The Atlantic Coast Shipbuilding Industrial board, representing companies and workers, announced today that the union labor group has agreed to submit to the workers a proposition to cut wages 10 per cent.

Democrats Planning Fight on Rule by Secret Caucus

Serious Delay for Legislative Program of Gov. Hyde Threatened Unless Their Rights as Minority Party Are Recognized.

Lieutenant-Governor refused to say whether the practice, unusual in Missouri legislative history, would be continued indefinitely, but he failed to indicate any decision to return to the regular session.

Lloyd was asked to explain his views on the propriety of a majority party in a legislative body considering and passing upon legislation in secret caucus, and making the open session of the Senate merely a ratification meeting.

"The majority, being charged with the responsibility," he answered, "makes it entirely proper for it to consider matters of legislation in conference without being governed by parliamentary rules. Ours is a government by parties, and I see no reason why we should not accept the responsibility."

"Back in 1869, when I was majority floor leader in the House, I did not hesitate to call caucuses, and I do not now hesitate to say that they are advisable in many instances," he continued.

Lloyd's Control Absolute.

Lloyd's control of the Senate seems absolute now, though there are already some slight mutterings of discontent by some Republicans over such rule. None of the Republicans so far has broken away from Lloyd, and it is doubtful if any will unless an insurrection can be organized.

It is too early in the legislative session for an insurrection movement to gain much headway.

Senator Burford's View.

Senator Burford of Reynolds County, minority leader, said yesterday that the Republican caucus control was "high-handed" and "unheard of" in the Missouri Senate.

"Two years ago when the Democrats were in control of the Senate," he said, "they did not once caucus on a matter of legislation. Our only caucuses were on the election of officers in the Senate and on some minor details of organization. We recognized the right of every individual Senator, whether he was a Democrat or a Republican, to hold and to express on the open floor of the Senate his views on every matter of legislation, and to record those views when the vote was taken. We did not attempt to force the views of any clique of Democratic Senators on the Democratic Senators and upon the Senate as a whole."

"Under the present system we of the minority party have no opportunity to represent our constituents. The action to be taken is decided upon in caucus of all Republican Senators. They are bound secretly in the caucus to act as a unit. Just now we seem helpless, but it will not always be so. The Republican majority is not so big that it can be certain of ruling absolutely all the time."

Caucus System Denounced.

Senator McCullough of Knox County, an active Democratic leader in the Senate, denounced the caucus system of legislation.

"The Republicans caucus on everything that comes up," he said, "and we Democrats can only wait to be run over rough shod. I think that without exception every Democrat in the Senate came to this session of the Legislature set aside politics and to work in harmony with the Republican administration, voting for every progressive piece of legislation brought forward and with only a few exceptions."

THE INTRODUCED CAUCUS IN SENATE LEGISLATION

LIEUT. GOV. HIRAM LLOYD.

He thought to serve the State and his constituents. We felt that the campaign promises of Gov. Hyde would be kept, that this would be an administration in which partisanship would be waived aside and that we would be one harmonious whole working for the good of the State.

"So far there has been no indication of a disposition upon the majority side of the Senate. We have been entirely ignored. I do not believe there has been one question before the Senate which has not been caucused on, and on which there has not been a political decision reached in the Republican caucus."

The Democrats in the Senate represent nearly half the population of the State and yet we have no voice. As a matter of fact, a number of Republican districts are no more represented than are the Democratic districts, because in a caucus a majority of the caucus rules, the minority in the caucus being bound to vote as the majority may dictate. It could easily happen that the 15 Democrats and nine Republicans could hold one view on a matter of legislation, and only 10 Republicans hold the other view.

Yet the 10 Republicans would control the Senate, the nine being bound to vote with them, and the Democrats under such a plan being helpless.

"If for one day we did not believe that a majority of the people of Missouri believe in that kind of minority rule."

"The vote of one Senator should count for as much as the vote of any other Senator, and no system which violates that rule violates the rights of the people of the State."

Lloyd laid the groundwork for his control long before the Legislature convened. He summoned the Republican Senators to dinner in St. Louis and obtained from them a promise to work as a unit. He is thoroughly experienced in legislative maneuvering, having twice been Republican floor leader in the House.

MAN, 75, FALLS OVER CLIFF

Thomas Murray, 75 years old, a retired city fireman living at the Alexian Brothers' hospital, was taken from a fireman's train at Union Station today, suffering from internal troubles, injuries to his spine and head wounds.

He told policemen that when walking at Meramec Highlands late yesterday he had fallen from a cliff at a railroad cut and had lain beside the tracks all night, at times unconscious, until he was picked up by the train crew this morning. The cliffs where he was found are from 20 to 30 feet high.

ing of the session of the Supreme Council. He declared there was no difference of opinion regarding the merits of the problem.

Germany must pay to her utmost capacity," he asserted. "In order to assure this, the allies must stand together. It is useless to try to get more than Germany can pay, for her interests, contrary to the opinion sometimes expressed, are identical with the interests of the allies. It is to the interests of Belgium and France, that Germany pay to the hilt. But the question is how to get it."

"Germany could easily pay inside the limits of her own territory, but her railway export her forests northward, and the allies took possession of her railways and doubled the passenger and freight rates, they would be paid only in paper marks that would become worthless across the frontier."

It was generally recognized that France had suffered the greatest loss and endured the greatest suffering, said Lloyd George, but, on the other hand, Great Britain, having been obliged to wage war abroad, had been forced to incur the greatest financial expenditure. Her naval effort alone had cost 10,000,000,000 of pounds.

Germany, he continued, can pay only in exports. If she exported too much to the allies it would mean the ruin of allied industries; if she exported too little to the allies it would mean the loss to the allies of the neutral markets. Consequently, the question of effectively securing

JUDGE TELLS WHY COMMON LAW BOND IS VALID

It Serves the Purpose of Effecting Prisoner's Release, and Signers Are Liable, Hall Says.

In ruling today that a common law bond is valid and binds the signers in case of forfeiture, Circuit Judge Robert W. Hall made a number of interesting observations on the question of bonds generally.

The case was that of Arthur A. Fisher, arrested upon suspicion of grand larceny last Feb. 14. He was released on a common law bond signed by Louis Seidel and A. Fishman. When his case was called in the Court of Criminal Correction he did not appear. It was twice continued, and Fisher never did appear, so the bond was forfeited.

The bondsmen appealed from the ruling of the Criminal Court of Correction on the ground that a common law bond really had no lawful effect, although it had been out by Judge Hall today, they signed it, and it served its purpose of obtaining Fisher's release.

While upholding the validity of the common law bond, Judge Hall remarked that it often hampered the police by enabling prisoners to obtain their liberty before the police could properly identify prisoners and gather evidence.

Practice in Signing Bonds.

The practice in signing such bonds is as follows: After a prisoner is locked up he sends for a bondsman, who goes to the office or home of the judge, tells him the facts, and obtains his signature to a common law bond. The amount of the bond is $500. The bondsman takes it back to the police station, and obtains the prisoner's release.

Judges desiring to help the police in the greatest number of cases possible, and to see that the prisoner is released, but the police have frequently complained that some judges did not do that, but accepted the word of the bondsman as to the facts.

"Mistakes (by the police) no doubt are made at times," said Judge Hall in his opinion, "but in order that the greatest good may be done, the police must be given the benefit of the doubt, and the innocent must suffer. It is hard to pick the good sheep from the bad if found in places frequented only by the bad. Birds of a feather flock together, and a man arrested in company with police characters has only himself to blame."

Case of Auto Driver.

His attention has been called, the judge says, to the hardship that might be imposed on an automobile driver who, having hit somebody, should be compelled to remain in jail. His answer is, that if the accident was unavoidable, the automobile owner is not likely to be held, and he was his carelessness, he should be held just as any other offender.

"If quarrelsome men could but protect themselves by liability insurance," observed the judge, "it would not be safe for one to walk upon the streets, and if some of our drivers of automobiles were unable to so easily obtain liability insurance, the case of pedestrians would certainly be more secure."

SAYS DODGERS PURPOSE.

He suggests that in felony cases, where the persons arrested have criminal records, the police should notify the judges and thus inform them of their course in accepting bonds.

Regarding the common law bond, it is put, however, Judge Hall held that the common law bond has a definite standing under the law. In this particular case, he pointed out, "the securities offered by the prisoner, which was to effect the release of the prisoner, and now they must pay the penalty of forfeiture."

AUTO DRIVER FINED $100 FOR ACCIDENT FATAL TO WOMAN

Man Who Drove Machine Which Was Knocked Against Two Women Is Discharged.

Edgar Goedecke, 2459 Bond avenue, Jennings, was fined $100 for careless driving and willard A. Carson, 3949 Kennerly avenue, was discharged in Police Court today. An automobile driven by Goedecke struck Carson's automobile Jan. 14 at Spring avenue and North Market street, knocking it against two women who were crossing Spring avenue at the southeast curb. One of them, Mrs. Rose Garry, 3524 North Market street, died 30 minutes later at the City Hospital and the other, Mrs. Elizabeth O'Donnell, 2414 North Spring avenue, was seriously injured.

A Coroner's jury exonerated both men at the inquest, returning a verdict of accident. Judge Mix, in finding Goedecke, said that the testimony showed he was coming south in the automobile driven by Goedecke, and so was technically at fault. Goedecke filed notice of an appeal.

payment of reparations must be paid up with due account for these facts.

The British Prime Minister insisted upon the necessity of real progress at the present conference. This could be accomplished, he said, only if the government would accept the Boulogne suggestion as a basis of discussion. That is to say, 6,000,000,000 pounds ($30,000,000,000 in 30 or 35 annuities).

Would Insist on Certain Things.

Certain things must be insisted upon, Lloyd George declared—the determination of Germany's capacity to pay, the restoration of no one who is "fantastic budget," and the imposition upon her people of taxes as heavy as those paid by the allied people. Germany must make her people believe that she is unable to pay. He favored six annuities, and inquired: "Why not fix them now, and then examine Germany's capacity to pay and consider the matter at another conference?"

Mr. Lloyd George insisted it was essential that something be done now, for neither the allies nor the world generally could bear further delay. It was then that the decision was taken to appoint a committee to examine the question and report back to the council.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 28.—Acceptance of the invitation from the Supreme Allied Council to send Turkish representatives to a conference in London beginning Feb. 21, at which a revision of the Sevres treaty will be considered, is announced by the Sultan's government. In its reply to the Council, the Government promised to transmit a most urgent invitation to Ankara, asking Mustafa Kemal Pasha, or some other representative of the Turkish Nationalist Government, to participate in the conference.

FAMILY INJURED BY EXPLOSION AT POLICEMAN'S HOME

Piece of Fuse and Scraps of Waxed Paper Such as Is Used to Wrap Dynamite, Found in Rear of House.

A small piece of fuse and scraps of waxed paper such as is used to wrap sticks of dynamite were found early this morning in the rear of 1129 South Second street, the home of Patrolman Michael A. Finnegan, of the Dayton Street District, where an explosion at 9:30 o'clock last night wrecked the kitchen door and injured Finnegan, his wife, Margaret, and their children, Estelle, 11 years old, and Ada, 9.

Finnegan was cut on the right knee and his wife was slightly bruised. The girls were cut about the legs and suffered from shock, and are at Mulvaney Hospital where their condition is not thought to be serious.

Patrolmen's Yards Adjoin.

Patrolman John Bartels of the Mounted District today suggested that the explosive might have been meant for him. He lives at 147 Court street, just around the corner from the Finnegan home, and their rear yards adjoin. His reason for thinking he may have been singled out for revenge is that he has been active in arresting violators of the prohibition laws in the section of the city known as Hugo Hill.

Finnegan walks a beat between Leffingwell and Garrison avenues and Avenue and Morgan street. He said he had not made enemies on his beat and knew of no one who might have a grudge against him.

Family Was in Kitchen.

Finnegan, when he saw that his daughters were hurt, ran to the pastor of the Annunciation Church at 1009 South Sixth street and summoned Rev. Father William Muldally, who notified the police and had the children taken to the hospital.

Edward McGrath, a private watchman, reported that about three hours before the explosion he saw a man who seemed to be an Italian loitering near the Finnegan home and questioned him. The man, he said, spoke English with difficulty. He disappeared soon after being questioned.

City Hall Post Office Station.

The new Post Office station to be known as City Hall Station will be opened at the south end of the hall rotunda, Feb. 10. The force will consist of a superintendent, a clerk and three carriers. The district to be served from the station will be between Eleventh and Fourteenth streets and Olive and Poplar streets.

HOUSE DEFEATS ATTEMPT TO ABOLISH CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

Whittaker's Proposal Voted Down, 94 to 22, During Consideration of Death Penalty for Robbery.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 28.—The House today, by a vote of 94 to 22, killed the effort of Representative Whitaker to obtain enactment of a bill to abolish capital punishment in Missouri, all the city members voting negatively.

The measure was offered yesterday as a substitute for one by Representative Frank R. Smith of St. Louis to render first degree robbery punishable by death. A similar bill to the Smith bill, introduced in the Senate by Senator Penzel, was engrossed this morning.

A point of order was raised today that the substitute was not germane to the robbery bill. The substitute provided that no crimes should be punishable by death in Missouri. Speaker O'Fallon requested that no point of order against consideration of the bill be pressed, but that it be allowed to go to a vote.

Representative Smith told the House he had received an anonymous letter threatening that he "would be knocked off unless you withdraw your bill."

Whittaker in a closing speech made direct threats to Representative Bailey of Jasper County and Speaker O'Fallon. He also charged that unfair methods were being used in pushing through the special session in 1919 the bill restoring capital punishment.

The Smith bill was placed on the informal calendar and will be taken up later.

leged sale of liquor at local fraternity dances attended by the sons and daughters of State officials is being investigated by the Springfield
Women's Improvement League. Mrs.
I. G. Miller, the president, announces. The league also has declared war on face painting, present fashions in dressing and late automobile parties. "Delinquency of boys and girls in the boys and girls in the capital is alarming," Mrs.
Miller said. "The way women paint is a disgrace and some of them don't wear enough clothes to ward a shotgun, and you can't tell a woman of 50 from a girl of 20 when you get a rear view. The mothers are mostly to blame."

the patterns, colors and weights that a man would choose for immediate

CHICAGO, Jan. 25.—Arguments in a petition of Charles Scribner's Sons, publishers, asking that the State be restrained from requiring them to sell text books at specified prices, began yesterday, were continued today before Federal Judge Carpenter.

DON'T EXPERIMENT—This old reliable family remedy has relieved thousands—it will relieve you—try it today.

The Illinois school book law requires that publishing firms file classified lists of text books with the State officials. The law provides that the prices thus filed cannot be changed for five years after the date of filing. The publishers allege that the law operates to cause them loss of money, if adhered to. They state that prices of materials and other expenses involved in publishing the text books have increased to such an extent that they can no longer sell them profitably at the prices now on file.

New Elixir, Called Aspirinal Medicated With Latest Scientific Remedies, Used and Endorsed by European and American Army Surgeons to Cut Short a Cold and Prevent Complications.

Every Druggist in U. S. Instructed to Refund Price While You Wait at Counter if Relief Does Not Come Within Two Minutes.

Delightful Taste, Immediate Relief, Quick Warm-Up.

The sensation of the year in the drug trade is Aspirinal, the two minute cold and cough reliever, authoritatively guaranteed by the laboratories; tested, approved and most enthusiastically endorsed by the highest authorities, and proclaimed by the common people as ten times as quick and effective as whiskey, rock and rye, or any other cold and cough remedy they have tried.

All drug stores are now supplied with the wonderful new elixir, so all you have to do to get rid of that cold is to step into the nearest drug store, hand the clerk half a dollar for a bottle of Aspirinal and tell him to serve you two teaspoonfuls with four teaspoonfuls of water in a glass. With your watch in your hand, take the drink at one swallow and call for your money back in two minutes if you cannot feel your cold fading away like a dream within the time limit. Don't be bashful, for the druggists invite you and expect you to try it. Everybody's doing it.

When your cold or cough is relieved, take the remainder of the bottle home to your wife and babies, for Aspirinal is by far the safest and most effective, the easiest to take and the most agreeable cold and cough remedy for infants and children.

KOPLAR SETTLES SUITS OVER PICTURE HOUSES

Announces He Has Received Substantial Payment in $1,350,000 Deal.

Harry Koplar of 5511 Pershing avenue, who last March delivered possession of 19 motion picture theaters in St. Louis which he controlled to the Missouri Famous-Players Corporation, and thereafter became a party to eight different law suits over payment for the theaters, said today that he had received a substantial payment on the theaters and had come to an amicable agreement concerning ultimate full payment. The suits have been dismissed.

The purchase price announced at the time of the deal was $1,350,000. Koplar's personal equity being more than $500,000. This sum represented the net accumulation of Koplar in the motion picture business here which he entered 19 years ago with a 5-cent tent show at Fifteenth and Montgomery streets.

The theaters which he delivered to the Famous-Players Corporation were the King's, Pershing, Shenandoah, Jantzen, Grand-Florisant, Landell, Royal, Arco, Cherokee, Gravois, Lafayette, Novelty, Maffitt, Montgomery, Lowell, St. Louis, Compton, Rex and Russell.

He neglected to negotiate a written contract for the payment of the theaters at the time he delivered possession and since has been going once and sometimes twice a day to the office of his attorney in an effort to collect payment on terms he regarded as agreed upon. "I used to think I knew the motion picture game pretty well," Koplar said, "but I have learned more about the law in the last 11 months than I learned about pictures in 19 years." He said that his immediate purpose following settlement was to get 48 hours' sleep.

Settlement is understood to have been along the lines of the original agreement as interpreted by Koplar. The transfer was chiefly leasehold and included fee to only a few of the theater buildings.

1007 OLIVE ST.HEARINGS OPEN ON COMPENSATION BILLSSenate and House Committees at Joint Session Hear Four
Measures Discussed.By a Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Jan. 23.—The fight on workmen's compensation legislation in the Legislature this time will follow three lines, it was evidenced at the joint hearing last night at which the Senate and House Workmen's Compensation Committees heard representatives of employers and employees on four bills which have been introduced.

Two of these lines are those familiar in disputes between employers and employees, and show groups of those two classes arrayed on opposite sides of the question, each seeking legislation molded to suit its independent aims. Between the extremes is an alliance between the Missouri Federation of Labor and the Associated Industries of Missouri, working for a compromise measure to which each has contributed concessions.

Four Bills Considered.
Of the four bills, one is favored by the Central Trades and Labor Union of St. Louis, another by the Central Labor Union of Kansas City, the third by the Missouri Workmen's Compensation Committee, representing a group of Kansas City employers, and the other by the Associated Industries of Missouri and the Missouri Federation of Labor.

In the main the measures presented by the Central Union bodies of Kansas City and St. Louis seek the same general aims, monopolistic State insurance, a weekly benefit in the case of temporary injury equal to about two-thirds of the pay of the employee, and elimination of a maximum on the amount to be paid for medical attention and reconstruction.

The compromise bill would provide a $20 maximum weekly benefit, competitive State insurance and a maximum of $120 for medical attention. The Kansas City employers' bill would provide for a weekly maximum of $15.

Fifteen persons spoke at the hearing, eight of them representing various branches of organized labor, one the insurance interests of Kansas City and six employers. Eight advocated the compromise bill.

Some Spirited Tills.
In the main the discussion was on the merits of the various measures, but two or three spirited exchanges hinged around the arguments of Charles M. Miller of Kansas City, representing the Missouri Workmen's Compensation Committee, and former State Senator Alroy S. Phillips of St. Louis, representing the Federation of Labor on the compromise bill.

Miller declared that members of the associated industries are not a unit on the compromise, and that some of the Kansas City members had resigned after it had been introduced. He also declared that the compromise bill would provide the highest compensation measure in the world, and that it would mean "an increase of 53 1/2 per cent" and that it eliminates from the bill passed by the last Legislature and killed Nov. 2 last at the polls under a referendum the clause that members of the Compensation Commission should be former service men.

Phillips answered that he had never seen Miller and the interests he represents in any other attitude than opposing compensation. He declared that the compromise bill would be lower in its maximum weekly benefit than at least four or five other states and that its cost would be an increase of not more than seven and four-tenths per cent over that contemplated in the old bill. He charged that the clause relating to former service men had been inserted in the latter measure for the purpose of keeping him off the compensation commission if one had been established. The Legion does not now desire such a clause, he added.

St. Louis Speakers Heard.

The St. Louis speakers at the hearing, besides Phillips, included Elmer Donnell, secretary of the Associated Industries; W. P. Mason of the International Shoe Co.; F. Henry, secretary of the Shoe Manufacturers' Association; T. E. Ehlensbeck, secretary of the Legislative Committee of the Central Trades and Labor Union, and O. E. Jennings of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, who also spoke for the president of the Metal Trades Council.

R. T. Woods, president of the Federation of Labor, W. W. Scott of the Legislative Board of that organization, and former Judge John F. Kennish, representing Kansas City insurance interests, also spoke.

The next hearing will be held next Thursday night.

TETRAZZINI VENTURES INTO DRAMATIC SONG

Audience Startled When Coloratura Soprano Breaks Forth in Aria From "Aida."

By RICHARD L. STOKES.

If a canary bird, twittering its delicate roulades, were suddenly to peal forth with a trumpet fanfare, one would be little more startled than when Miss Lada Tetrazzini, for her third encore at the Coliseum last night, plunged without warning into the recitative and aria, "L'insana parola," from "Aida."

A coloratura soprano, devoted all her life to the graces and exquisite fragilities of song, venturing in the twilight of her career upon the massive heroics of dramatic opera. A diva whose art has seemed to gush forth as unreflectingly as that of a nightingale, hazarding one of the most impassioned episodes in vocal music. Small wonder that, as the familiar prelude rang forth, many sat tense with amazement and apprehension.

The amazement increased as the apprehension vanished. For the cantatrice proceeded to give no common account of herself in the perilous enterprise. Her voice has not, of course, the volume which could compete with the thunders of a great orchestra in an opera house; but it did flare out with a strength that had been unsuspected. On the other hand, what dramatic soprano could rival this miraculously dulcet quality of tone?

Most startling of all was the expressiveness with which the soliloquy was delivered. Rapture and despair, love and hatred—these contrasts were indicated with arresting simplicity, no matter if on the scale of a miniature rather than a heroic canvas; and the last plaintive sighs of the music, how often have they been rendered with a melancholy more piercing.

A New Departure.
Inquiry showed that Mme. Tetrazzini has been adventuring this season in the continent of dramatic song, and that, in addition to the aria from "Aida," she has been singing Santuzza's great and tragic narrative, "Voi lo sapete," from "Cavalleria Rusticana."

The excerpt from "Aida" proved, in fact, to be the most effective number on the program, with the exception, perhaps, of the mad scene from "Lucia di Lammermoor." In the latter the singer returned to the realm where she was formerly the undisputed queen, and in which even today she has few rivals. Most of us are familiar with the feats of vocal floriture, similar to the agility of a flute, which are required of a singer in this tour de force—the trills, the scales, the staccati, the mordents, the portamenti, the swells—comprising every resource in the arsenal of the coloratura virtuosa.

After such a display, let the gossip be set at rest, for the present, that Mme. Tetrazzini has lost her voice. She remains, in her own field, one of the first living singers, and suffers chiefly from comparison, not with present-day competitors, but with the Tetrazzini of a decade ago. One of the chief differences seems to be a growing shyness of breath, which sometimes troubles the flow of her legato and imposes shorter intervals of phrasing.

Perhaps the music is not propelled with such brilliant energy and crispness. Perhaps also the voice itself has forfeited some of its former richness of substance, though certainly not in her remarkable low register. No doubt, moreover, her highest notes—like the B in Lammermoor's "Come la Rose," and the E-flat in the mad scene—have taken on something of strain, instead of their pristine effortlessness.

A Phenomenal Gift.
But once in a million efforts nature happens to hit upon the creation of a perfect musical instrument in the human frame. It will be remembered how many centuries man required to evolve a consummate instrument like the violin; and even today, with all the specifications available, he cannot equal the masterpiece accomplished by a handful of artisans, during a brief period, in the little town of Cremona. And where man may proceed by science, nature works by haphazard accident.

There must be a multitude of auspicious coincidences to make a great singer. The resonating chambers of skull and chest must happen to be of the exact shape and dimensions to supply the overtones which endow a voice with purity and beauty; with them must go vocal cords preternaturally vigorous and flexible, with the exquisitely poised nervous and muscular control to animate them; a powerful torso to provide motive energy; a perfect ear; and many other things, including musical genius and opportunity for training. There is little doubt that Tetrazzini has been and is one of these fortunate strokes of nature.

By all accounts, the diva sang much better last night than she did a year ago at the Coliseum. By the same token she no longer found it necessary to invoke so much of the vaudeville which helped her over difficult places on the former visit. There were a few kisses blown to the audience, some bits of by-play with her companions on the program, some asides chattered to persons in the front row, and a little pantomime to show that she found the auditorium chilly. But mostly she attended rather strictly to the business of singing.

Sings "Caro Nome." Also.

coloratura aria, "Caro Nome," from "L'insana parola," which was scarcely equal to what she accomplished later.

blurred; and she omitted the sky-scraper note at the end which she would once have taken with the ease of a bird. But any faults here were technical; the tone quality had the childish sweetness and the purity which are incomparably hers.

Three fine songs in Italian followed; and in Quarante's "Se fossi" she gave an example of the messa di voce which has become one of her chief reliances—a long-held note beginning pianissimo, swelling to forte, and diminishing again to softness; and all with the most geometrical symmetry. Her encores were a new "Serenata," by Toselli, and two songs in weirdly phrased English, "Somewhere a Voice is Calling," and "The Last Rose of Summer."

She was assisted by Max Gerna, a Russian cellist; and J. Henri Bove, flutist. Both, if the miserable acoustics of the auditorium permit judgment, seem highly capable performers, as did Francesco Longo, at the piano. The concert was for the benefit of Father Caesar Spigardi's free school for Italian orphan children. The audience filled the arena and most of the boxes, and occupied about two-thirds of the balcony, with some scattering hundreds in the gallery.

WOMAN TENANT IN DENTON HOME TESTIFIES

Mrs. Ida L. Gregory Tells of Being in Company of Mrs. Peete After June 1, 1920.

By the Associated Press
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 28.—Mrs. Ida L. Gregory, assistant judge and clerk of the juvenile court at Denver, testified yesterday for the prosecution in the trial of Mrs. Louise L. Peete, charged with the murder of Jacob Charles Denton, whose body was found buried in a sealed room in the cellar of his home last September.

Mrs. Gregory said she was a joint tenant with Mrs. Peete in the Denton home from June 1 to June 2, 1920, during which time she was "almost always in the company of" the defendant. She had arranged to move into the house May 31, Mrs. Gregory testified, but was delayed by Mrs. Peete until the afternoon of June 2, on the morning of which day the state charges Mrs. Peete killed Denton and buried his body in the cellar of his home.

The witness said Mrs. Peete told her, when she telephoned regarding moving into the house May 31, that a plumber was fixing the stove and it would be impossible for her to occupy the dwelling that day. The following day, according to Mrs. Gregory, Mrs. Peete said Denton was moving out and that it would be all right for Mrs. Gregory to move in.

Reference to Call From Denton. In the next few days, Mrs. Gregory said, Mrs. Peete expressed anxiety over the failure of Denton to communicate with her. Later, Mrs. Gregory said, Mrs. Peete said she had been called to a hotel by Denton, who wished her to help him sign some checks, his arm being injured.

Subsequently, according to Mrs. Gregory, the defendant told her Denton had left the house June 1 in company with a woman with whom he had quarreled throughout the night. This woman, the witness stated Mrs. Peete told her, was waiting on the porch the night of May 31, when Denton and Mrs. Peete returned home.

James Crowhurst testified he was employed by Mrs. Peete to repair a heater in the house. "Mrs. Peete asked me once if I could fix the cellar so no one could get into it," Crowhurst said. "I said I could, but nothing was done about it."

Tells of Sale of Men's Clothing. Crowhurst testified Mrs. Peete had asked him to list the Denton residence for sale for $25,000. He detailed visits he made to the house at her solicitation.

"She asked me if I could fix the house so nobody could get into the basement," he continued. "I said I could, but she didn't have it done." "On July 10 last she told me Denton had lost an arm. She also said his relatives were jealous of her because of the position she occupied in his home."

"She gave me some man's clothes to sell and some to keep. She said Denton had wanted them given to a charitable institution, but that she thought they were too good for that. I gave her the money I got for those I sold."

At the close of the direct examination of Crowhurst the district attorney asked him: "Have you ever been convicted of a felony?" "No, sir," replied Crowhurst. "But I have pleaded guilty of a felony to save a relative."

MAN'S DEATH ATTRIBUTED TO CONDUCTOR'S CARELESSNESS

A coroner's jury investigating the death of Albert L. Neuman, 34 years old, of 7328 Virginia avenue, a photo engraver, who died Wednesday from a complication of heart trouble and the effects of a fractured leg, suffered Jan. 5 when he attempted to board a moving street car, today returned a verdict of criminal carelessness against W. E. Butts, 5144 Eiler street, conductor of the car from which Neuman fell.

It was established at the inquest that Neuman and August Valheimer, 127 West Koeln street, a friend, attempted to board a Bellefontaine car slowing down at California and Gasconade street, when Butts gave the signal to go ahead before the men had boarded the car, throwing Neuman to the street.

Girl, 11, in Graduating Class. Among the 20 pupils of the Pestalozzi School who will be graduated tonight is Henrietta Affelder, 11-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edmond Affelder of 1722 South Broadway. Henrietta began school at the age of 6 years and is the youngest member of her class. She will enter McKinley High School immediately. Graduation exercises will be held at 8 o'clock at the Markham Memorial, Menard and Julia streets.

Belgian to Trail Hoppe Until Cue Champion Relents

Horemans to Return Next Fall, if Necessary, to Meet Balk-line Titleholder.

DAILY PRAISES EUROPEAN

Like Gallagher, New York Old-Timer Thinks Visitor Will Revolutionize Game.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—You have listened with commendable restraint while the representatives of Willie Hoppe and Edouard Horemans have aired their views on the proposed match for the world's billiard championship. Now, hear from Maurice Day, New York, himself a former match player, who has seen billiard champions come and go for more years than he cares to mention.

"Horemans will beat Hoppe, as sure as the sun makes the match," he said yesterday. "The Belgian, in my opinion, is the greatest player this side of the hereafter. I have every confidence in his ability to beat Hoppe at 18-2 ballgame. I know he will beat him at 18-17."

This, then, is the unqualified opinion of a man who should and does know billiards second to none. Further, it is the unbiased opinion of a man who has no interest—personal or otherwise—in either champion or challenger.

"Horemans' system of play," Day commented, "will ultimately revolutionize billiards in this country. Using the close bridge, he keeps the balls within the oblong in the center of the table and employs either the straight stroke or rail stroke as will."

"You have heard of what is termed a 'bad roll'?" Horemans never gets on his knees to make a shot, but accurate that it is all but impossible for him to lose a run by the balls lining up. Best of all, it is a position made."

Naturally Mr. Barclay is sore. Shop Barclay, the Belgian's manager, in common with the accepted theory of managerial ethics, was nursing a professional grouse. He was very much annoyed by statements, said to have been made by R. H. Benjamin, the champion's manager, that Hoppe had posted a record of 10-0 in the match, which Hoppe subsequently drew it down.

"Hoppe posted 10-0 for it with a reputable concern," I said the same," was Barclay's response. "Let me give you this straight. Horemans will remain in this country until the end of the present season, hoping that Hoppe will accept his challenge. He will then return home, after which he can back here in the fall and renew his efforts to get the match."

Barclay claims he is ready to agree upon a match at any time and at any terms.

"Horemans will play Hoppe on July 4, if that suits his convenience," said Barclay. "Horemans is not considering the size of the gate, he wants the title."

Rugged Kid Bandy Faces Skilled British Boxer in Freddie Jacks

St. Louis Fighter Opposes Briton Who Has Held His Own With Best Featherweights in This Country—Only Setback Due to Enemy's Trickery, Manager Charges.

By John E. Wray.

Kid Bandy, a heart-of-oak lightweight boxer, who always enters the ring fit to battle for a kingdom, will oppose a scientific scrapper of the British school tonight at the Coliseum, where he will face Freddie Jacks, holder of the Lonsdale belt, indicative of the English championship in his class. Bandy has met several good men of both featherweight and lightweight classification, and has proved that it takes a top-notch to set him back, even in the matter of points. He has yet to suffer a complete reverse in any of his bouts since he entered the pugilistic high places.

Bandy, always in good physical condition, is even more rigidly than usual for this bout, as he had expected to meet Andy Chaney, a boy with a punch as well as science. The substitution of Freddie Jacks at the eleventh hour to Chaney's illness, seems to detract from the match only in that Chaney has gained popularity here through his quick knockout of "Kakaboff," whereas Jacks is making his initial appearance.

On the known form, Jacks is a first-class man. He has faced Chaney and has gained a draw in 12 rounds. In addition he has fought other stars now competing for the right to oppose Johnny Kilbane for the 126-pound title and has not suffered disgrace. In fact, he stands equal with the four men believed to have the best chance with Kilbane—Jimmy de Poo, Danny Frush, Charlie Beecher and Andy Chaney.

Question as to Richards' Victory. The one black mark against him, notwithstanding his record, is his loss against Freddie Richards, a lightweight of Dayton, O., by whom he was virtually knocked out last December, and by whom he subsequently was outpointed last Monday. As to his first defeat, it is claimed by his manager, Joe Woodman, that Jacks was unfairly treated when Richards entered the ring with "loaded" gloves and cracked him on the jaw for a nine-count knockdown. In the first round.

As to tonight's bout—Jacks has a reputation to defend and Bandy has one to gain. Both are being well paid, so that there seems no doubt that both will give their best efforts.

Jacks has had long experience in the ring. He has fought in this country eleven months and is familiar with the conditions and the marks from some of the many encounters in which he has taken part. He gave the Dayton fighter a good fight, but he has never been knocked off his feet.

Of almost equal importance to the

BETTING SHIFTED WHEN RICHARDS WAS FORCED TO USE SOFT BANDAGES

Manager of Freddie Jacks Shows Light on "Kakaboff" Record of Dayton Fighter.

By way of shedding further light on the treatment accorded Freddie Jacks in Dayton, O., where the British boxer met Blockie Richards last December and again last Monday, the English boxer's manager, Joe Woodman, writes the following self-explanatory letter:

J. E. Wray, Post-Dispatch, Jan. 27. Dear Mr. Wray:—In your paper of today I notice a dispatch from Bob Wray of the Dayton "O." Journal, which I judge you asked for after my talk with you in reference to Blockie Richards using some foreign matter in his gloves in which he said, "Don't let Joe Woodman kid you."

During the past 20 years I have never added or taken out of my gloves anything but what is a sporting editor, and sure will not make a statement of that kind at this late date.

When I explained to you about Blockie Richards and his bandages, he wore, I may say, Mr. Wray, that I had put up the right glove on an hour—sure not an amount of the money, but I had the largest glove ever in Dayton. But I did keep Jacks from going into the ring until such time as Richards allowed me to see his bandages, and I removed them, later on, and he put on electric tape, a large amount. After this his punch was missing. Mr. Wray states that it was on account of his low weight, still he says that he will make two pounds less if he is matched with Champion Johnny Kilbane.

Why did he knock out Phil Logan a few weeks ago? Because Logan was never known to knock anyone down when he had to wear soft bandages. In the contest with Jacks last Monday he never had Jacks in a bad way to say nothing of knocking him down.

Why did the gambler at the Savoy charge that he was when it was known that the bandages were changed? The Evening News and the Herald state in their account of the contest that "he was charged with having used in his hand the bandages of a gentlemanly man."

In Mr. Wray's story he also fails to make mention of the fact that Richards failed to make the required weight, 125, at 3 o'clock.

Sincerely yours, JOE WOODMAN.

Chicago Runners Invited Here For Intercity Relay

Rod Murchison of St. Louis Donates $200 Trophy for Carnival Feature.

A silver cup, valued at $200, has been received by the municipal athletic directors to be used in a special invitation or open relay race at the annual Municipal A. A. carnival at the Coliseum, Saturday evening, March 18.

The cup has been placed in competition by Rod Murchison and will go permanently to the first time victor. Murchison does not stipulate the details of the race to which the trophy will be applied, but leaves these as discretionary with the officials.

Rodow Abeken, director of municipal athletics, stated that he is negotiating with Martin Delaney, director of athletics of the Chicago Athletic Association, for a special relay race between representative teams of Chicago and St. Louis.

Picked Team Has Chance.

He had been contemplating on bringing the Chicago A. A. relay team here for an invitation race against local quarters, but upon consideration realized that none of the St. Louis relay teams would have a chance against the Cherry Circle athletes.

However, it is believed that a set of sprinters can be picked from the St. Louis A. A. and Washington University which would give Delaney's pick a real race.

The specialty of the meet will be a match race between Jack Scholz and Loren Murchison, if present plans are followed. Scholz is now running the Chicago A. A. and practically agreed while here Christmas to return for the Coliseum event. Murchison is residing here and is expected to be in the city while the events are being held.

These are the two best sprinters that St. Louis has turned out in years and a race between them would be an excellent attraction.

Wrestling Would Be Parlor Game Without Headlock, Says Bothner

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—WITHOUT the headlock wrestling would quickly degenerate into a parlor game, and nobody wants to go and see a parlor game."

In these words George Bothner, former lightweight wrestling champion of the world, and referee of most of the championship bouts in this city for three or four years, expressed disapproval of Jack Curley's proclamation that the headlock would be barred in bouts promoted by him in the future, in answer to what he considers a strong public sentiment against it.

Bothner, a practicing physician, and for a number of years a heavyweight wrestler close to the top class, is another who stands strongly opposed to taking the headlock out of wrestling. While Nat Pendleton, an Olympic champion, declared that it was no more dangerous and no more punishing than four or five other holds.

George Bothner gave evidence of the importance and value of the headlock on the mat in his gymnasium on Forty-second street yesterday and demonstrated that it takes such a part in combination with other holds to bar it would practically revolutionize the sport.

How Change to Chere.

In the Lewis-Sulzo match, the crowd early showed its disapproval of the headlock. Lewis applied it numerous times before the first fall, but Sulzo proved clever in squaring out of it. The champion then turned his attention to other varieties of holds, finally succeeding in winning Sulzo's shoulder down with the double wrist lock. The crowd's attitude then changed, cheers drawing out the loudest.

When the men returned to the ring for the second fall, Lewis started at a fast pace, directing all his efforts toward securing a headlock to the accompaniment of a chorus of "boos" and uncompromising invective from the audience. Sulzo was holding heavily and although he struggled desperately, he was unable to break the champion's grip about his head.

When Lewis arose after being declared the winner, Referee Lou Cutler and a physician worked several minutes over the prostrate Sulzo. Lewis remained in the ring while the police were keeping back the threatening crowd.

Sulzo was able to walk to his dressing room.

NEW YORK CRITICS THINK HUG IS AFTER JACOBSON

NEW YORK, Jan. 28.—Long Ernie Shore, the tall pitcher, is no longer a member of the Yankees. Neither is "Truck" Hannan, the slow-moving catcher. Miller Huggins, manager of the Yankees, announced that Shore, Hannan, Bob Meacham, the veteran pitcher, and Albin Kray, the veteran first baseman, who last year played with the Toledo club, have been sent to the Vernon team of the Pacific Coast League in part payment for O'Doul, the San Francisco catcher, who had been sent to the Yankees.

Huggins said he was desiring for an outfielder and local experts figure he is going to give a lot of players and money for "Baby Doll" Jacobson of the St. Louis Browns.

Bob Quinn, business manager of the Browns, stated today that Jacobson was in St. Louis and under contract to the Browns. He is now and under contract to the Browns.

Not a stiff blow was struck by Brennan or Walker until the seventh round, when Brennan took by using straight lefts and rights in the eighth round, after three more loss rounds. Brennan slightly outwalked Brennan, looking the eighth and twelfth rounds, according to the newspaper men.

Lewis Is Escorted Out of Ring After He Defeats Sulzo

Police Are Needed After Champion Uses Headlock in Match at Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Jan. 28.—A squad of police escorted Ed "Strangler" Lewis, world's heavyweight wrestling champion, through an angry crowd to his dressing room after Lewis had applied a headlock on Gustav Sulzo in winning the second fall of their wrestling match here last night.

Lewis clamped the hold on Sulzo after five minutes of fast wrestling. Sulzo's shoulders were forced to the mat. He lay there several minutes, apparently unconscious.

It was then the crowd surrounded the ring, but police prevented serious disorders.

Lewis won the first fall in 17 minutes with a double wrist lock. On the same bill, John Pesek won in straight falls from Wladek Zizka, winning the first fall in 25 minutes and the second in four minutes, using a knee hold in both falls.

How Change to Chere.

In the Lewis-Sulzo match, the crowd early showed its disapproval of the headlock. Lewis applied it numerous times before the first fall, but Sulzo proved clever in squaring out of it. Ten Erie Players Have Been Abroad With Tom Cahill

Brown, Last Season, and Hem-ingsley in 1919, Led U. S.
Goal Getters in Sweden.

When the Erie A. A. soccer team of Kearney, N. J., opens its two-game series at Cardinal Field against the local all-stars tomorrow,
St. Louis followers of the sport will see 10 players who have competed with U. S. elevens on foreign soil in action. Every one of the players with the Eastern aggregation is American born.

The Erie kickers who have been abroad with Tom Cahill's outfit are George Tittle, goal; George Post,
Dick Spalding and James Robertson, full backs; Harry Cooper and Albert
Blakey, half backs, and Archie
Stark, John Hemingsley, James Ford and Davey Brown, forwards. A few of these players have been abroad several times.

When the All-St. Louis eleven toured Scandinavia last season, Dave Brown, who was used at outside left, and is considered one of the best in the country at this position, topped the team in scoring. On the 1919 tour, when Bethlehem went abroad, Hemingsley was the leading point-getter for the Americans.

Eries Have Beaten Bethlehem.

The other players on the team's roster are Ward, goalkeeper, who probably will work between the upright in the clashes here, James Ingram, Thomas Stark and George Rogers, half backs, and William Kosch, George Knowles and Warren Rooney, forwards.

That Erie boasts of one of the best aggregations in the East is shown by the team's record for the campaign. In a second round U. S. F.
A. cup game the Kearney eleven eliminated Bethlehem, 4 goals to 3.
The fifth round clash with Robins resulted in a 1-1 draw, and on the replay the Robins were the winners,
4-3.

However, Erie protested on the ground that the field was under-size and that spectators interfered with the players. At first the protest was decided in favor of the Robins, but it was reopened and Erie will get another hearing tonight.

In five U. S. F. A. cup games, the Eries have scored 17 goals against a total of 10 for their opponents. The team's record in the national series is as follows: Erie 6, Erie Juniors 0;
Erie 4, Bethlehem 2; Erie 3, Federal Ship 1; Erie 1, Robins 1; Erie 3, Robins 5.

The team also is entered in the American Cup series and to date has advanced to the fifth round, scoring 12 goals against two for the opposition. The eleven after drawing a bye in the first round, the eleven faced as follows: Erie 4, Paterson 0; Erie 4,
Federal Ship 2; Erie 4, Babcock &
Wilcox 0.

Erie is at present in third place in the National League competition, two points ahead of the Robins.

Erie Team Starts West.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The Erie A.
A. football club departed for St. Louis last night over the Lehigh. They will put in a three hours' wait at Buffalo today by seeing Niagara Falls and will then proceed west via the Big Four, reaching St. Louis tomorrow morning.

Crouse Meets Jackson.

CONNEVILLE, Pa., Jan. 23.—
"Buck" Crouse of Pittsburgh, formerly a leading contender for the middleweight boxing crown and who was one of the American boxers who made a successful trip to Australia, will attempt a "come-back" here tonight when he meets "Kid" Jackson of this city in 10 rounds. Crouse has been absent from the ring for several years, having been physical instructor of a steel plant near Pittsburg.

Legion Gets Boxing Permit.

SHARON, Pa., Jan. 23.—The Sharon Post of the American Legion has been granted permission by Mayor
Frank Gilbert to hold boxing bouts.
Boxing has been under the ban here for the last few years. Mayor Gilbert, in granting permission to the legion, said he felt that it would be the sport on a clean basis. The Mayor said that as long as the legion exercised proper care in matchmaking he would not interfere.

Zhyzsko Throws Monogof.

LARAMIE, Wyo., Jan. 23.—Stanislaus Zhyzsko, the Polish wrestler, won two successive falls here last night from Bob Monogof, a Belgian.
Zhyzsko won the first fall with a side roll, in 27 minutes. He won the second in 13 minutes with a hip lock.

Athletics Sign Catcher.

PHILADELPHIA, Jan. 23.—Ollie Fuhman, who for two seasons was a catcher on the Regina club of the Western Canadian Baseball League, has been signed by the Philadelphia
Americans. Manager Mack announced today. He will report here in time to accompany the team on its Southern training trip.

Women's Golf Event in June.

NEW YORK, Jan. 23.—The women's metropolitan golf championship tournament for 1921 will be contested on the links of the Nassau Country Club at Glen Cove, Long Island, during the week of June 20. The Women's Metropolitan Golf Association announced yesterday.

Mason Knocks Out Hansen.

YOUNGSTOWN, O., Jan. 23.—Frankie
Mason, American flyweight champion, knocked out Bobby Hansen of New York in the sixth round of a scheduled 12-round bout here last night.
Hansen was floored three times in the final round.

OPINIONS ON MARINE AGREEMENT WITHHELD

Next Step in Consideration of Alleged British Control at Executive Session of Ship Board.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 23.—Members of the Shipping Board today closely guarded opinions formed on the testimony given before the board yesterday by officials of the International Mercantile Marine Co. bearing on the company's 20-year agreement with the British Government not to pursue any policy in their shipping operations injurious to British shipping or trade. With officials of the company excused from further appearance at the board yesterday, declaring they had been "one hundred per cent American at all times." While the agreement in question required that a majority of the directors of its subsidiary companies in England must be British subjects, Franklin said, the stock of the company actually was owned 94 per cent by Americans "in the United States."

P. A. S. Franklin, president of the International Mercantile Marine, vigorously defended the policies of the company before the board yesterday, declaring they had been "one hundred per cent American at all times." While the agreement in question required that a majority of the directors of its subsidiary companies in England must be British subjects, Franklin said, the stock of the company actually was owned 94 per cent by Americans "in the United States."

Registry Abroad.
Questions by the board developed that 87 per cent of the more than 1,000,000 tons of shipping operated by the International Mercantile Marine was registered abroad and was subject to requisition by those foreign governments in case of war. Attention also was directed during the course of the hearing, to the clause of the agreement specifying that a majority of the directors of subsidiary companies in England must be British subjects.

Statements made on these points by International Mercantile Marine officials caused Admiral Benson, chairman of the board, to say that although Americans owned the vessels, actual control rested with the foreign directors of the companies subsidiary to the International Mercantile Marine. Franklin declared, however, that the stock was "locked up in New York, owned by Americans," and the foreign control could not affect the operation of ships by his company.

Says Company Is "Outcast."
Franklin in his testimony described his company as an "outcast" despite the fact, he said, that it had attempted to sell its British tonnage to "get money to buy American vessels, flying the American flag and would have done so but for the objection of President Wilson to the sale. He told the board that the British at first regarded the International Mercantile Marine as an "American trust in England" and as an "invasion of American financials in British trade."

The feeling in England was so strong, he said, that the British Government was compelled to "take measures of self-protection." Reviewing the operations of his vessels since the agreement was made, Franklin declared the British had never invoked any part of it and experience had proven that they would not, unless another emergency such as the world war should cause them to requisition the ships flying the British flag. He said the agreement did not affect the vessels operated by the International Mercantile Marine under the American flag.

STOLEN TOBACCO RECOVERED

Chauffeur Says He Found Cigars and Was Returning Them.

A few hours after James Kontsonka, a grocer, 603 Elm street, had reported $1,000 worth of cigars and cigarettes had been stolen, the police found James Spiro, 27, Lafayette Hotel, a service car chauffeur, in his automobile at Seventh and Walnut streets, the machine being loaded with cigars and cigarettes. Spiro said he had found the cartons near Seventh street and Clark avenue and knowing of the burglary, because of his association with Kontsonka, he had loaded the articles into his machine and was going to the grocery to return them when stopped by the police. The goods were identified by the grocer.

MISSOURI 27TH IN CARE OF FEEBLE MINDED

Fewer Than 600 of State's 6000 Mental Delinquents Are Inmates in Colony.

Missouri ranks twenty-seventh among the states in the care of the feeble-minded, it is disclosed by a recent survey completed by Dr. J. E. Wallin, director of the Psycho-Educational Clinic and chairman of the Committee on Feeble-Mindedness for the Children's Code Commission of Missouri.

This information, together with other data showing Missouri's backward position in caring for the feeble-minded, will be presented by the Children's Code Commission to the State Legislature in an effort to pass bills now pending which will provide for the examination and mandatory commitment of the mentally deficient and the prevention of the propagation of feeble-mindedness through marriage.

The survey shows that of the estimated 6000 feeble-minded persons in the State, fewer than 600 are being taken care of at the State-maintained colony at Marshall, and that about 1800 are distributed among almshouses throughout the State which have no facilities for proper supervision of training. The survey further shows that Missouri cares for fewer than 17 feeble-minded and epileptic per 100,000 of its population, while the average for the United States is 32.7 per 100,000. The report also states that less than $1,600,000 has been expended by the State colony during the 20 years of its existence, and that there are only five states which support separate institutions for the feeble-minded and epileptic with a poorer record than Missouri in this respect.

The bill being introduced by the Children's Code Commission provides for a State bureau for the examination of mental defectives, the mandatory commitment of dependent, delinquent or unprotected feeble-minded, and the prevention of marriage of the feeble-minded or epileptic.

These bills have been endorsed by the State Conference for Social Welfare, the Department of Special Classes of the State Teachers' Association, the Missouri League of Women Voters, the Missouri Federation of Women's Clubs, the Missouri Welfare League and other organizations.

WELLESLEY COLLEGE TO INSTALL AIRTIGHT ROOM FOR SNEEZES

Students With Colds to Shut Sevens Up in Compartment and Inhale Disinfecting Vapors.

By the Associated Press.
WELLESLEY, Mass., Jan. 28.—A Coryza closet to snuff the sniffles and nip the colds of Wellesley College girls is to be installed at Fourders Hall. It was announced today. The coryza closet is an air tight little room, lined with zinc and filled with the healing and disinfecting vapors of eucalyptus oil and formaldehyde. When a student feels a sneeze coming on she will rush into the compartment, shut her eyes, take a few deep breaths, utter a class yell and the pulmonary menace will vanish.

A similar closet was recently tested in Simpson Cottage, the college infirmary. The results convinced Dr. Katherine F. Raymond, the college physician, of its value. A census showed that 341 girls out of 867 had suffered from colds during the last 12 months. The students have been warned to discard the fashion of going about bareheaded on rainy days.

A WOMAN WITH A PRETTY COMPLEXION

Always appears charming.

If you have a clear, smooth, velvety skin, free from pimples and other unsightly blemishes such as blackheads, pimples, freckles, liver spots, you need never fear the impression you make on all you meet. Your complexion makes or mars your personality.

Some women are endowed by nature with a clear, smooth skin; others not so fortunate can acquire this beauty by the use of the popular Black and White Beauty treatment, consisting of Black and White Ointment and Soap. Go to your drug or department store and buy a 25c package of Black and White Ointment and Black and White Soap. Within each package are full directions as to the methods of use which will give you the best results. Black and White Beauty Treatment is easy to use, not requiring tedious hours of application.

Send 10c and this clipping to Black and White Box 1507, Memphis, Tenn., and receive samples of Black and White Ointment, Soap, Face Powder and Talcum.

HOOVER FOR NATIONAL MARKETING BOARD TO LIMIT FUTURE TRADING

A man might deal 20 times in 10,000 bushels of grain wheat in the market, whereas if he threw 20,000,000 bushels of short sales into the market he would affect it very materially. It seems to me it is a question of quantity and not of the number of dealers.

Wheat Sold 100 Times Over.

"You have said," remarked Congressman McLaughlin of Michigan, "that there is evidently a very large majority of dealers on the exchange who are engaged in legitimate transactions. I have wondered if you were entirely right in that, in view of the fact that there is sold 100 times over—100 bushels sold for every bushel in existence."

"I have not any doubt of the very large volume of hedging sales, and that a considerable multiplication of the actual commodity naturally follows from the system," Hoover replied. "You can take the arrival of a carload of wheat at, say, Duluth, and in the ordinary process of getting that carload of wheat to the cargo at the Gulf there will probably be a change of hands in that wheat three or four times, and each one of those changes will involve a re-hedging in the market. So that you could get a multiplication by four, and probably a multiplication by four takes place in any event in the natural flow towards the market, especially an export market. I am not aware what the total figure is, but there is some multiplication that would operate naturally in that amount to a re-insurance of each man that takes possession of the commodity in its flow."

Neutralize Each Other.

"I do not think that without a very careful investigation anyone could state what the volume of speculative transactions is as against what one might call cash transactions. I have not any doubt as to the very considerable volume of speculative transactions, but my own inclination is to believe that as long as those speculative transactions are in comparatively small quantities they neutralize each other; it is only when a preponderant amount is handled by one hand that it can be made the instrument of manipulation."

"Do I gather," asked Congressman McKinley, "that if you are making any recommendation at all, it would be that any bill that is passed should simply limit the size of the individual speculative trades?"

"I would carry it a step further."

WHEN NATURE COLORS THE CHEEKS

She Applies It From Within, Not From Outside

Pepto-Mangan, Nature's Beautifier

It is the Coloring Matter of Pure Blood That Makes a Good Complexion

Beauty is more than skin deep. No one can have a clear, delicate skin, glowing with health, if the blood is impure or lacking in the vitally necessary iron that gives the coloring matter to the "life fluid." Neglect of regular and necessary waste elimination helps to render the blood impure and reduce its iron content. The best cosmetic in the world is pure, healthy, iron-rich blood.

Doctors, realizing the importance of enriching and improving the blood, have for years prescribed Gude's Pepto-Mangan, the pleasant and proved blood builder and tonic. Pepto-Mangan contains just the elements needed to change thin, watery blood to good, red blood. Pepto-Mangan builds rich, red blood, enabling it to carry strength and vigor to every part of the body.

Gude's Pepto-Mangan has become so well known, by reason of doctors recommending it, that you can get it in tablet or liquid form at any drug store. Instead of trying to cover up a poor complexion, get a bottle of Gude's Pepto-Mangan and note how soon you feel better, sleep better, work harder, play with more zest, and how your skin and complexion are improving.

Only make sure to get the genuine. It has "Gude's" on the package.

THIS FEEBLE AGED WOMAN

Tells How Vinol Builds Up Strength and Vitality for Old People

She says: "I am seventy-three years of age. I suffered from a weak, run-down condition, and was so feeble I could hardly get around; my daughter induced me to try VINOL, and it gave me a good appetite. I sleep well, am stronger and healthier in every way, so I can get around and do all my household work."

"The reason VINOL is so successful in such cases is because it contains the tissue building and nourishing elements of cod's liver, aided by the blood-making, strength-giving, properties of tonic iron, beef tins and hypophosphites. This is a natural manner in which it increases the appetite, aids digestion, enriches the blood with thousands of red corpuscles and imparts strength, health and vitality to organs, muscles and tissue of the body."

"If feeble old people only realized the good VINOL will do them, we should see them able to supply the demand," writes Dr. J. H. Wilson, M.D.

and an acceleration to depression has been created.

Would Limit Speculation.

"It appears to me that the remedy for that—I will state it again—is to endeavor to arrive from time to time at a limitation of the quantity of what we have chosen here to term purely speculative transactions that may be entered upon by any individual or any firm. That quantity could, I think, be very large and still effect its end, because I believe that the volume of transactions on the Board of Trade is usually such."

CAPLAN FILES NEW MOTION IN U. R. SUIT

Attorney for Seaman Asks Court to Dismiss Adler Plea, Which Resulted in Receivership.

Ephraim Caplan, attorney for John W. Seaman in Seaman's suit for a receiver for the United Railways Co., today re-entered the United States District Court with a new motion in the case. The United States Supreme Court Tuesday denied Seaman's appeal from the action of the United States Circuit Court of Appeals, which recognized the receivership suit of Samuel W. Adler, to the exclusion of the earlier suit of Seaman. The present receivership is constituted under the Adler suit. In this proceeding Caplan represents F. H. Portman, holder of 600 shares of United Railways stock.

Caplan's motion, which will be argued Feb. 7, is that the court shall dismiss the Adler receivership bill, on the ground that the court lacked jurisdiction. Adler, a resident of New York, is set forth as entered the United States Court as a non-resident of the State. But Caplan declares, an "indispensable and necessary party plaintiff" in the case should have been the Mercantile Trust Co., as the company is a resident of this State, the proceeding should have been in the State courts. Adler, it is declared, sued as the owner of bonds, payment of the interest on which was secured by a mortgage, of which the Mercantile Trust Co. was trustee. All right of action under the mortgage, it is declared, was vested expressly in the trustee, and the trustee is required to act at the request of holders of 25 per cent of the bonds, "and unless and until such request is duly made, no holder of the bonds may take any action thereunder." This procedure was not followed, Caplan alleges.

MINISTER TO FIGHT CHARGES

Episcopal Pastor Who Wed Dupont Ready to Defend Action.
LOS ANGELES, Cal., Jan. 25.—The question of whether a canon of the Protestant Episcopal Church had been violated in the marriage of Alfred I. Dupont of Wilmington, Del., and Miss Jessie D. Ball of Los Angeles last Saturday, may not be decided for several weeks. Bishop Joseph H. Johnson of the diocese of Los Angeles said last night.

The bishop said he had taken no action in the matter, to which attention was called yesterday by the convention of the diocese in a resolution assuring the bishop of its support in any steps he might see fit to take.

The Rev. Baker P. Lee, who performed the ceremony, said he was prepared to defend his action before an ecclesiastical tribunal.

Mr. Lee said he "would fight to a finish" any charges that might be preferred against him on the ground that Du Pont was a divorced person.

BARON DUNSANY RE-ARRESTED

Shotguns and Other Sporting Arms Found in Hald on House.

DUBLIN, Jan. 25.—Baron Dunsany, who was arrested Wednesday when a quantity of obsolete ammunition was found in his castle, but who afterward was released, was re-arrested yesterday and taken to an unknown destination.

The arrest of Baron Dunsany resulted from the shooting of game, a portion of which was sent to England. The Baron, who is a keen sportsman, is said to have requested and received permission from Republican volunteers to shoot birds on his estate. English friends, to whom he sent the game, returned it, saying they did not want to eat Sinn Féin birds. The military, learning of this, raided Baron Dunsany's house, where they are said to have discovered a number of shotguns and other sporting arms.

RESERVISTS' CHECKS UNCLAIMED.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 25.—More than 60,000 checks on the National Treasury for reserve pay due naval reservists are unclaimed at the Navy Department because of the failure of the reservists to keep the department informed of their correct address. It was announced today.

that no small amount of sales would have any effect.

"I would give to a board some power of regulation over manipulation. I would also give it what I think is a much more valuable power, and that is the power to enter into voluntary agreements with boards of trade to bring about these ends. Because I believe that a constructive solution of these problems by boards of trade themselves can be effected by voluntary agreement."

"I state this on the basis of the experience we had during the war, where after conference and arrangement, we never did have to exert the authority of the law, and on several occasions we secured the incorporation of new rules by the boards of trade themselves for the prevention of this, that or the other. These rules are, from the point of view of the development of our own institutions, a better method of procedure than an elaboration of fixed law, because they place the institution itself on a constructive basis."

I know that my retirement will make no difference in the cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight for the rights of the people, never belong to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

Lindenwood Wants the Trolley.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Llewellyn Blodgett wonders plaintively, a little reproachfully, why we of Lindenwood and vicinity should desire the street cars (vulgar, as he calls them) to make their prosaic and practical entrance and exit more or less regularly in and from our midst.

It is a beautiful picture that Mr. Blodgett draws with his facile pen. The only thing that is wrong with it is the perspective. He probably languidly viewed it and us from the seat of a Packard or a Pierce-Arrow.

"Eastward," to quote L. B., "may be seen in the glory of a sunrise our own city in subtle purple." Eastward we sometimes see our own city in blue—indigo blue—when we have missed the 7:23 and must sit in our little station until the 8:15 arrives, meditating upon what manner of answer we shall make to the man who holds over us the power of life and death, when he hisses: "Why did you not arise sooner from your peaceful couch in your quiet village? Why did you not race more wildly down that winding road past those old trees grand in their majesty? Hasten! No alarm clock in your remote habitation?"

We want a street car for the same reason that our land is girdled and crisscrossed with rails over which trains pass bearing their burden of people somewhat similar to ourselves.

We must needs seek the city whose golden domes we see in the distance and earn therein the money to maintain those homes in the isolated suburb and incidentally to pay taxes in that same city, also special taxes to make those beautiful streets over which the Pierce-Arrow so softly, so soothingly rolls.

We sometimes want to go downtown at another hour than the Frisco has said we shall. A such request we resolutely walk the one or two or three miles to the car line and thankfully, almost reverently, drop our votive offering of 7 cents into the curious little collection box.

There have been occasions when some desperate man or woman of us wanted to stay in town after the 6:24 left Union Station. If so, he or she could wait until the 11:30 train or take the car and walk that weary mile or so home.

I have wanted all of us, man, woman and child (and there are some 5000 souls in Gratiot and Lindenwood, according to Nils Granh) to go in a body to the office of those who love petitions and then on to visit our good fathers of the city. They perhaps do not know of us.

"Like an early New England village," I believe Mr. Blodgett said. Yes, it is and we are like early New England villages, honest, sober, God-fearing, asking of no man aught but even-handed justice. If I remember rightly, our early New England villagers insisted stoutly upon having their rights. I seem to recall some "embattled farmers" who made it very uncomfortable for "greater power than the U. R." (this is not less majestic) or our good city fathers, by whom they had been treated just as unfairly, just as contemptuously as the U. R. and the good city fathers have treated us.

May the Pierce-Arrow roll smoothly and softly on. W. W. WILSON.

Unfinished Business.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
You are to be congratulated on your editorial criticism of the negligence of city management for the unfinished work in the construction of King's highway from Easton avenue north to Penrose street. How ugly the street is can be understood only by those who are obliged to see it. Hundreds and hundreds of citizens must traverse this thoroughfare on their way to and from our new industrial district in the vicinity of King's highway and Natural Bridge road west to Union.

We boast much of our new industrial district and in showing visitors the town we include this new industrial district. But to do this we have to show them the unwholesome condition of King's highway, one of the Mayor's great achievements.

Pleeds for the Symphony.
To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
Wouldn't it be a shame to have our fine Symphony Orchestra disband after a long and brilliant career, and just when it is at its zenith? Yet this very thing is right now threatened. In this great, rich city of ours are there not some men who have the wealth themselves and also the influence with others to secure a sufficient endowment to maintain the orchestra? Right now also is the time to engage the best men from the Symphony for the municipal opera next summer. Why not follow the evidently wise advice of that pre-eminently splendid conductor, Mr. Bendix, and engage stars for the various opera to be given; also start to train the choruses early, so as to be able to give really finished performances.

I want to add that the article in Monday's Post-Dispatch by Nil Desperandum meets with my heartiest approval. By all means a man who has a real knowledge of music and another who has the ability to decide on what should or should not be given in the open air and has dramatic experience should be chosen to select or confer with the conductor on the opera to be given. Selecting the opera by all means be asked to serve on the committee.

GOVERNMENT BY CAUCUS.

Under the caucus rule now operating at Jefferson City the State Senate has, in effect, been abolished and the powers constitutionally exercised by that body are vested in 10 Republican Senators.

The proceedings of the Senate are mere rehearsals. Bills are no longer to be discussed, amended, enacted or rejected on the floor of the Senate. All this is to be done behind the closed doors of the caucus, securely hidden from the public gaze.

The modus operandi of the caucus, as clearly explained in the Post-Dispatch yesterday, may again be set forth. Of the 34 members of the Senate, 19 are Republicans, 15 Democrats. When the 19 Republicans go into caucus they are all pledged to abide by any decision which a majority of them—10—support. Any bill, therefore, which 10 Republican Senators approve becomes, there and then, the action of the whole Senate.

In consequence of this compact the 15 Democratic Senators have been reduced to mere spectators. But that is not all. Suppose nine Republican Senators vote against a caucus measure. By their oath they will have to vote for that measure when it comes before the Senate. They are, therefore, reduced to the same impotency as the Democrats. The astounding spectacle, accordingly, is presented of a legislative body of 34 members absolutely under the control of 10 of those members, or less than one-third. In other words, the election credentials of 24 Senators—15 Democrats and nine Republicans—have been voided, and the people who elected those 24 Senators are disfranchised.

The incident which brought this scheme of legislation by caucus into full bloom is of interest. A bill introduced by a Democratic Senator to reduce income taxes some 50 per cent was permitted to get out of committee on to the floor. The Republican caucus evidently had not decided as to what reduction in income taxes, if any, would be permitted. The result was that the bill was jockeyed back to the committee. It has no place on the calendar. It may be brought up again or it may not, according as 10 Republican Senators decide. So, the amount of income tax each of us pays this year will be determined, not by the Legislature, but by a cabal of 10 Republican Senators.

This scheme of legislating by caucus is said to be the work of Lieutenant-Governor Lloyd. In just appraisal of this scheme it may be said to make the gerrymander tactics of the Democrats seem cumbersome, inefficient and archaic. It disfranchises more than two-thirds of the State. It makes a mockery of the Constitution. It junks legislation and substitutes manipulation.

It raises this question: Are we to be governed in Missouri by law or by Lloyd?

VOTING AT THE PRIMARY.

In the approaching primary for the selection of party candidates for the mayoralty election the large body of voters of St. Louis who are more interested in clean government than in promoting party success will probably encounter some difficulties at the hands of party challengers at the polls. The law as to the eligibility of voters at primary elections was framed by politicians whose sole interest is to preserve party solidarity, and they have resorted to the usual expedients to discourage independence in the voter. Thus, section 5005 of the Revised Statutes of Missouri of 1919, declares:

Who entitled to vote.—No person shall be entitled to vote at any primary unless a qualified elector of the precinct and duly registered therein, and known to affiliate with the political party named at the head of the ticket he calls for, or will make affidavit or furnish proper proof that he is affiliated with the party whose ticket he calls for, or obligate himself under oath to support the nominee of said party at the following city election.

A voter, therefore, usually affiliating with one party who desires to vote for a candidate running on the opposite ticket will likely be challenged for proof of his regularity and, failing to furnish it, will be required to make oath that he will support the nominee of the party whose primary ticket he voted, regardless of who is nominated. On the face of the law it appears that a failure to observe this oath may constitute a crime, and section 5019 of the law attempts to strengthen this impression by providing a penalty of imprisonment for not less than two nor more than five years for "any person violating any of the provisions or requirements of this article." An analysis of the provision reveals, however, that the only requirement for the independent voters is to pledge himself under oath to support the nominee; the law does not in fact require him to vote for the nominee. Hence there can be no violation of the law in his failure to support the nominee if such successful candidate should be unacceptable to him.

Failure to carry out the pledge might be thought to constitute perjury, but perjury consists of a willful false statement of fact, whereas the oath required in the primary law is a mere pledge to do something at a future time.

Such provisions in primary laws are largely there for their psychological effect, though in some states the politicians have raised up real obstacles, as, for example, where electors must register as Democrats or Republicans and are required to vote as such or not at all at primary elections. Fortunately, machine government has not carried us that far.

The legal obligation in the primary law is wholly against public policy. The pledge to support the party nominee, without regard to fitness is immoral; the moral obligation of good citizenship is to defeat a bad party nominee.

THE GERMAN INDEMNITY.

The reported decision of the Versailles conference, upon which doubt is thrown by later advice, to fix the German indemnity at 100,000,000,000 gold marks, about $24,000,000,000, is a victory for justice and sound judgment. It is a double victory in that it fixes the sum and the time in which it is to be paid and reduces the latest amount demanded in behalf of France by Finance Minister Doumer 50 per cent. The sum is to be paid in 42 years, with interest on deferred payments, making an estimated total of 250,000,000,000 gold marks.

This is an enormous sum to wring from a war-worn, revolution-torn and temporarily poverty-stricken people. It is a heavy penalty, too heavy for the German people, although far less than the cost and damage inflicted upon her opponents. Yet the Germans now know the maximum expected of them. They will not labor as those without hope under the certainty that the indemnity will grow as their ability to pay increases and that every mark of earnings above bare necessities will be taken. The ability to pay the fixed maximum is not assured, but depends upon circumstances, whether Germany shall obtain credits for raw materials and for the revival of industry and trade and whether a stable and efficient government shall be established. Her opportunity to recover and her ability to pay depends in large measure upon the nations who will profit by the indemnity. America also is a large factor.

The very fact that not only the payment of the indemnity, but the prosperity of Germany's neighbors, depend upon Germany's prosperity will go far to assure that co-operation which is necessary to the rehabilitation and the restoration of Europe.

The reported decision is reassuring of a better mind towards the conquered and towards all the war problems on the part of the victors. It indicates that thrift is being tempered with judgment and humanity. There is a brighter hue on the European horizon today.

Senator McCumber says the people out of employment could be at work if they were willing to work for what manufacturers are able to pay. It is unfortunate for the country that the statesman from North Dakota isn't looking for a job.

ONE ITEM OF RAILROAD NEWS.

The report from Topeka, Kan., that the force employed in the Santa Fe shops in that city will not be reduced is an interesting railroad item at this time when reduction is the order of the railroad world.

The Topeka item is interesting from another angle—it is a characteristic piece of Santa Fe news. The Santa Fe management may have played the game according to the elastic rules of railroad, but in one respect its policy has been admirable from the arrival of Ripley. It has always kept its plant and equipment in first-class shape. The explanation that the present lull in traffic will be utilized to "get the equipment in condition," shows that, though Ripley is dead, the Ripley tradition survives.

It is a tradition that many other railroad heads ought to incorporate into their management.

LESS TALK, MORE MEANING.

United States Circuit Judge Sanborn, having listened to lawyers for four hours, it finally occurred to him that he would like to know what they were talking about. He inferred that they wanted something, but for the life of him he could not make out what it was, notwithstanding that, as a Judge, he listens to lawyers a good deal and can usually understand them fairly well.

He knew there was danger, if he asked a question, that they would spend another four hours answering it, but he took a chance. He asked them what they wanted. They started to tell him everything except what he wanted to know. He stopped them and kept on stopping them until one of them told him in 20 words what had not been told him in four hours of talking.

Having found out what was wanted, he asked what action of the court was desired to get them what they wanted. The lawyer told him in 48 words. That was not bad, although it could have been said in fewer words. Having found all this out the Judge conferred with the other two Judges and in 30 words announced what would be done.

If a few more Judges would make lawyers talk less and say more, there would be less congestion in the courts and more litigants would get what is coming to them.

SOCRATES AND HIS PUPILS.

SOCRATES: I suppose you young men are following the disarmament debate?

Glaucon: We have been reading it, Socrates.

Socrates: It comes around inevitably to the old problem of getting everybody into a disarmament agreement.

Glaucon: So it seems.

Socrates: We know very well how that will result.

Glaucon: I am afraid we do.

Socrates: Very well; I want to make a suggestion.

Polemarchus: Good!

Socrates: Suppose we say to the other nations: "We are going to disarm. We are not going to build any more fighting ships for awhile, and we are going to see if you build any. If you do, and we find the example we are setting is not followed by the other nations, we will resume where we left off and build the biggest fleet in the world."

Thrasymachus: That ought to start something.

Socrates: I think it would. They know very well that we can build a bigger fleet even than England can build.

Polemarchus: Certainly.

Socrates: We have the whip hand in that respect easily enough.

Polemarchus: Truly.

Socrates: They also know that we do not want to engage in another fool competition such as England and Germany had.

Glaucon: Precisely.

Socrates: It does seem, then, that such an announcement from us would at least result in letting things stand at the status quo.

Thrasymachus: I dare say it would.

Socrates: Unless something is done we shall find ourselves trying to match the fleet of England. As a matter of fact, unless England adopts a new building program pretty soon we have already a program of our own which will place us abreast of her in capital ships. Mr. Hoover recently asked Congress for the cost of a single battle cruiser. He wants the money for relief work. The country is groaning under war taxes. It is a good time to talk about disarmament.

Glaucon: There was never a better.

Socrates: Well said, my dear Glaucon. We don't know but that such a declaration from us would be hailed with joy by the other debt-ridden countries.

Socrates: By Jove, yes!

Glaucon: At any rate, they can't be hankering for a navy-competition contest with us.

Polemarchus: You have it, I fancy.

Socrates: It is sweet of you to say so, Polemarchus. Now let us see who can keep still the longest.

THE CHAMBERED NAUTILUS.

THIS is the ship of pearl, which, poets feign,
Sails the unshadowed main—
The venturous bark that flings
On the sweet summer wave its purple wings
In gulfs enchanted, where the siren sings,
And coral reefs lie bare,
Where the cold sea-molds rise to sun their streaming hair.

Its web of living gauze no more unfurl;
Wrecked is the ship of pearl;
And every chambered cell,
Where its dim dreaming life was wont to dwell,
As the frail tenant shaped his growing shell,
Before three lies revealed;
Its twisted ceiling rent, its unroofed floor
Up-rolled and down-rolled no more.

Thanks for the heavenly message brought by thee,
Child of the wandering sea,
Cast from her lap the forfeit
From thy dead lips a clearer note is born
Than ever Triton blew from wreathed horn;
While on mine ear it rings,
Through the deep caves of thought I hear a voice that sings:

Build thee more stately mansions, O my soul,
As the swift seasons roll!
Leave thy low-vaulted past;
Let each new temple, nobler than the last,
Shut thee from heaven with a dome more vast,
Till thou at length art free,
Leaving thine outgrown shell by life's unrest-ing sea!

The MIRROR of PUBLIC OPINION

This column is designed to reproduce without bias the latest comment by the leading publicists, newspapers and periodicals on the questions of the day.

FREEDOM OF EXPRESSION.

From the Lincoln (Neb.) Star.

"CONGRESS shall make no law . . . abridging the freedom of speech or of the press." Thus reads in part the first amendment to the United States Constitution and thus, for the first time in all history did a nation guarantee to its people the right to freely express their thoughts. That personal right is now held to be fundamental to the success and progress of our Government. The Constitution is the will of the people and the will of the people can only be expressed through the untrammeled expression of sentiment. The Nebraska Legislature at this time has before it two bills affecting the display of motion pictures in the State, and it is respectfully suggested that the legislators carefully consider the First Amendment to the Constitution. It must surely be admitted by logical people that motion pictures belong to the same category as books, magazines and newspapers. Our sagacious forefathers would no doubt have included motion pictures in the First Amendment if such an invention had been known at that time. There may be difference in form between a book and a motion picture play, but fundamentally they are the same. They express thought. But there should be no misunderstanding. The right to abuse this constitutional right of free thinking is not guaranteed. Thus we have libel laws and laws providing punishment for those who write indecent literature or exhibit obscene pictures. It should be remembered, however, that there is a basic difference between prohibiting free speech and punishing one for abusing the right after he has been tried in a court and found guilty by a jury of his fellow men. One is a denial of fundamental right, the other is the act of society as a whole protecting itself from one who disregards the rights of society.

NEED OF REFORM.

ERIC C. HOPWOOD is World's Work.

DIRECTLY or indirectly the war is responsible for a distinct breaking down of American morale. A marked but subtle change has taken place. The variable of human conduct is at the low point of its swing. We need to accelerate the upward movement. It is not strange that war, which is the business of wholesale destruction of life, should produce as a reflex a frame of mind in the individual tending to minimize individual criminal breaches and disorders ordinarily considered grave. The motives leading to war differ. The strategy of war is the same, the attempt of one force to destroy another. In the face of such a same death, theft, rapine, pillage, treachery and deceit loses the proportion they hold in normal society and not infrequently receive social sanction when directed toward the enemy. The world has never been as good to live in, despite all that has happened in the last six years. There is no danger at all in the situation unless the tolerance of had conditions be permitted to crystallize into social sanction. Today the necessary readjustment is simple; tomorrow and every other tomorrow it will be increasingly difficult. Let every individual say that at once and henceforth worth is to be the measure of a man; that success is not alone in the accumulation of wealth; that since the home is the cornerstones of society, it must be preserved and exalted; that modesty and clean-mindedness are fundamentals of human conduct; that dishonesty to the mass is as culpable as to the individual—and it will be so.

The Frivolous Spender

By SOPHIE IRENE

SOME time ago I wrote in these columns a great deal about a woman who spent on flowers, which she would make do; and I thought if she spent that much and floral piece, where now living she needs the money. The other day I was of a woman of great means just returned from a trip and spent a small fortune on shiny silks and things she did not really need. I happened to strike her. I remembered the words I wrote to me above, and this writing now, somehow, I would like to speak to my friend so this.

"My dear, do you much money you throw in these frivolities and you will forget tomorrow next week?"

"Come with me and you this mother of three children, who could have amount you spent today her children, the happy, as well as her mother who has for years that others might have they need."

Perhaps they could something beautiful which been unable to do because of necessity.

Your parting with a frumpier would mean you. You have so much have so little. You choose from the loveless thinking they have to be so careful buy."

"Do you realize what mean if you did such one? You would go home with a slow of gladness have never felt in your life. The chime of cheer have created, the looks have pleased, the things you would have helped, meant more to you than pleasure you have had. If these good-gabbling, if you don't believe once."

The Frivolous Spender

By SOPHIE IRENE LOEB

SOME time ago I wrote an article in these columns about two great funerals in one day, in which thousands of dollars were spent on flowers, which I could not help wishing had been used for some poor people who needed the grim necessities of life.

A woman writes me as follows: "My husband has a steady position, and I have three lovely children. But very often, when I see a funeral passing with many flowers I say myself, 'Well, if I had the money those flowers cost, I could outfit my three children.'"

"The other day I bought my mother some underwear that she really needed, and I know if she bought it herself she would make the cheapest do; and I thought if she died I would spend that much and more on a floral piece, where now while she is living she needs the underwear."

The other day I was in the home of a woman of great means. She had just returned from a shopping trip and spent a small fortune in frivolous thingy-silk things—things that she did not really need, but which happened to strike her fancy.

I remembered the mother who wrote to me above, and therefore this writing now.

Somewhere I would like to have spoken to my friend something like this:

"My dear, do you realize how much money you throw away today in these trumperies and flonies that you will forget tomorrow—certainly next week?"

"Come with me and let me show you this mother of three lovely children, who could have taken the amount you spent today and made her children the happiest in the world, as well as her old mother—a mother who has for years sacrificed that others might have that which they need."

"Perhaps they could even buy something beautiful which they have been unable to do because of bare necessity."

Your parting with a few of your trumperies would mean nothing to you. You have so much, and they have so little. You choose and pick from the loveliest things in life, and they have to be so careful what they buy."

"Do you realize what it would mean if you did such a thing just once? You would go home that night with a glow of gladness such as you have never felt in your life before."

The chime of cheer that you will have created, the looks of unexpected pleasure in the faces of those you would have helped, would mean more to you than all the pleasure you have had in the purchase of these goo-gabs."

"If you don't believe it, try it—once."

In fact, I could say the same thing to many women I know—kind-hearted women, who when you hear of their homes never seem to be able to get the hunger of her soul and happiness. Yet they never go outside to see "how the other half lives"—and die. People with little beauty in their lives and who long for lovely things in vain.

I can sympathize with the working girl who goes without her lunch in order to spend the money for a bunch of violets. I can understand how the hunger of her soul is then satisfied, even at the expense of her body.

She has passed by the florist's so many times and has seen that little cluster of bloom so often that she longs to have it for her very own. She knows she has spent her money frivolously, but she has felt some comfort in the need of such spending.

We can appreciate and sympathize with such a frivolous spender, but the woman who lavishes money on frivolities that are merely passing fancies—somehow I can't help wishing that such a one could be inspired with the spirit of dividing her frivolous spending with her sister of moderate means.

Every woman knows of such a sister even among her circle of friends. Why not try it—this willing division of frivolous money?

Colors which have so much to do with one's appearance are now no longer chosen according to age, as our mothers and grandmothers were prone to do. No color limit, no hard and fast rules before and after 30 in this age and era! On the contrary, the range is unlimited and ever varying, the necessary thing being to know your type and then to know colors as applied to yourself.

A girl with delicate coloring and translucent skin should choose tints rather than colors lest she detract from the delicacy of nature's endowments, whereas the girl with the clear olive skin and sun-kissed complexion can wear vivid and intense colors that challenge her own.

Yellow, ochre and greens call for a very clear skin, whereas red and its derivatives lend a glow that is flatulent, as do also the warmer shades of purple.

The eternal blue and green color scheme for the red-haired girl has at last given way to a range of colors in perfect harmony with or strongly contrasting, running the gamut from a pale and faint pink to brilliant orange, which well offsets the rare coloring of hair, which the majority of us, alas, are not favored with.

Woman Suffrage Memorial Monument, Chiseled by a Noted Woman Sculptor, to Be an Inspiration to Feminine World

MISS ADELAIDE JOHNSON

Adelaide Johnson Reaches New York With Greatest Work of Her Life, Which She Chiseled in Carrara and Brought to America After Surmounting Great Difficulties—Depicts the Faces and Souls of the Great Women Pioneers in the Greatest Bloodless Revolution Ever Known.

By Fay Stevenson.

NEW YORK, Jan. 28. WOMEN and the future generations will not forget the three great destiny characters of Woman's Rights when they behold the marble suffrage memorial which has just been completed by Miss Adelaide Johnson, American sculptor, and which is to be unveiled in the rotunda of the Capitol at Washington on Feb. 15.

Miss Johnson has just arrived from Genoa by the Transatlantica Italiana liner Dante Alighieri, with the monument which is to be unveiled to the women of today and the future.

For over 30 years this well-known sculptor has been extremely interested in the suffrage question. She has spent many hours in conference with the late Elizabeth Cady Stanton and Susan B. Anthony and modeled many busts and bas-reliefs of them. In fact, Miss Johnson, who has prominently figured in the epoch which women have just passed through, was so well able to portray the spirit which has dominated the lives of the three great pioneers in the woman's movement that Miss Alice Paul and the women of the National Woman's Party commissioned her to go to Carrara, Italy, to carve a monument which would be an inspiration to the feminine world.

"For eight months I have lived in my studio at Carrara and thought of nothing but my work," Miss Johnson told me in her room at the Martha Washington Hotel. "Eating and sleeping were only a matter of routine. My one idea was to create a cold piece of marble which would be so lifelike and so full of woman's soul that it would go down through ages telling the story of what these women did. Individual women we have always had through all the centuries, but these women gave individuality to every woman."

We can appreciate and sympathize with such a frivolous spender, but the woman who lavishes money on frivolities that are merely passing fancies—somehow I can't help wishing that such a one could be inspired with the spirit of dividing her frivolous spending with her sister of moderate means.

MRS. SOLOMON SAYS

By Helen Rowland.

Being the Confessions of the Seventh-Hundredth Wife.

MY daughter, the Civic had said in his heart:

Why doth a Widow remarry?

For, behold, doth she not possess all the honors and the comforts of matrimony, and escape all its trials and sorrows?

Lo, hath she not "Mrs." upon her calling card and a good income?

Yea, verily!

Her crepe veil glorifyeth her as a halo and wreatheth sympathy from the hearts of men, and envy from the hearts of women.

All the diversions of a damsel, all the freedom of a spinster, and all the charms of a married woman are here.

She goeth where she listeth and doeth what pleaseth her; and whatsoever she saith, men say, "How interesting!" and whatever she doeth, they cry, "How cute!"

Why, then, shall she lay down her independence and her pet habits, and her little comforts and her personality on the altar of Domesticity?

Why shall she cheerfully exchange the flattery and attention of ALL men, for the criticism and inattention of ONE?

Why shall she exchange the polishing of her finger-nails for the polishing of a shoe—and the movement of many flirtations for the pleasure of watching one man read his newspaper, evenings.

Yet, I, a widow, unto thee, Beloved, there's a REASON!

For, when I put these questions to the Widow, she turned her eyes upon me, and answered me sadly, saying: "The cynics rave on, oh Mother! For they know not whereof they speak!"

"Lo, it is TRUE that all my mornings are peace, and all my evenings, delight. For, no man's dinner weigheth upon my soul, and no man's breakfast disturbeth my beauty sleep."

"Behold, the youths and bachelors come, hanging garlands upon my door and singing praises beneath my windows, and proposals of marriage and protests of love are thicker than mistletoe-berries at Christmas."

"Yet, alas, housewains and flat-irons and love-tunes are as sound as brass and tinkling cymbals in the ears of a lonely woman!"

"For, there is a SOUND, for which I listen in vain!"

"Verily, verily, it is sweeter than the song of the cabaret singer, more thrilling than the cooing of a lover, and more beautiful in a woman's ears than the strains of the restaurant."

"Yea, it is more homely than the hum of the trolley in the street beneath, more cheerful than the tinkle of the phonograph next door, and more friendly than the ticking of the clock."

"Behold, it is THE SOUND OF THE KEY IN THE LATCH AT 6 o'clock."

"There is an hour in the day when millions of women, all over the world, sit with listening ears, awaiting this sound."

"Yet, I know in my heart, though I wait and listen, that NO ONE comes, bringing flowers or a grouch, kisses and the scent of cigar smoke, demands or words of comfort!"

"And for this, alone, oh my Mother, I will exchange all the luxuries of widowhood!"

"For the coming of Santa Claus is a yearly delight among children—but the return of an husband is a daily and more frequent source of joy."

"And the strongest bond of marriage is the Sound of the Key in the Latch!"

Selah.

of Johnny Chuck's bedroom. He thumped as only Peter can thump! Then he listened. Johnny Chuck hadn't moved. Peter tried it again. The result was just as before. Peter couldn't imagine how anybody could possibly sleep through such a noise.

Then Peter poked his head in Johnny Chuck's bedroom and called. Johnny didn't answer. He didn't move. Peter poked him roughly. There was no more sign of life than before. Then Peter actually bit Johnny and instantly jumped out into the hall, ready to run if need be. But there was no need. Johnny Chuck didn't stir. Peter couldn't believe it. He just couldn't. That bite had been a hard one. Anyway, it had been hard enough to hurt. Peter was sure of that. But there lay Johnny Chuck rolled up tightly in a ball and still and cold.

"He must be dead," muttered Peter mournfully. "He must be dead. No one could sleep right on after such a bite as that. No sir, it couldn't be done. Johnny must be dead. Something must have happened to him down here. I wonder if Polly Chuck is dead, too. I'll see if I can waken her."

So Peter did the same things to Polly Chuck that he had done to Johnny Chuck and Polly Chuck remained still and cold. It must be that she, too, was dead. Peter began to be frightened. Really there was nothing to be afraid of. Even if they were dead there was nothing to fear. But Peter was frightened just the same. Something must kill him down there underground, just as it had them. At least Peter thought that. He turned and hurried up the long hall to the doorway by which he entered. He was in a hurry to get out of that fearsome place.

And all the time it wasn't a fearsome place at all. Nothing had happened to Johnny and Polly Chuck. They were not dead. They were asleep, truly asleep. But it was the strangest of all sleeps, a sleep from which only warmth could awaken them until it should be time for them to wake.

It is called hibernation.

believe I'll try, just to make sure. Of course, they must be asleep. Nothing could have happened to them down here."

First Peter thumped with his hind feet in the hall just outside the door

SECOND INSTALLMENT.

Scott, the assistant yardmaster, seemed to pay no further attention to him; but after the day's work he took him to a nearby railroad boarding house and volunteered to stand good for him. That was only one of the little things Dick saw this man do from time to time for one or another of the hundred men under him. Dick tried to understand how a man with his signal business and executive ability in the railroad game was being held at the job of assistant yardmaster. He began to make inquiries.

"Him?" exclaimed a chunky East Penn freight conductor with a red face and a shiny green-blue celluloid collar. "He has more brains and nerve than any man his age on the road. No matter how bad he's tied up here, did you ever see him get rattled or without time to answer a question or kid a man? Did you ever see him get himself in a hole or leave the yard in hard shape for the night people, the way they nearly always leave it for him?"

"Then why isn't he chief yardmaster or trainmaster or superintendent or something?" demanded Dick.

"Why? Why, because he's been trying to get himself and the night people to quit dropping high explosives down any old track, up against any old car, prop or piping or any old thing, against company rules and against the law. Does Whitman make Olson listen? He does not! He says that Scott tried to make his own men here in the yard quit cutting off high explosives so they'd have to back them up, like the rules say. Did Whitman back him up? He did not!"

"And before that—about three years ago, when Scott came here from the W. &

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

FAIR INES.

As it would be if Hood had known the commercial value of writing it for the movies.

Oh, saw ye not fair Ines?
She's gone into the West
Where handsome leading men in chaps
And high-heeled boots are dressed.
She owns the Bar-X-Circle Ranch
Upon the mesa's crest,
And entertains her rough-neck help
With merry quip and jest.

I saw thee, lovely Ines,
Whip out a gun one day,
And drop a horse-thief in his tracks
A half a mile away.
And when young Oklahoma Ike
To kiss thee did essay,
Thou spokest bright but bitter words
To wit: "Don't get too gay!"

I feared for thee, fair Ines,
The time that Mesquite Pete,
Astride his 'loping pinto nag
Rode up to thy retreat,
But when he was ejected by
The whiskers and the feet,
He must have seen that he had been
A trifle indiscreet.

Return again, fair Ines,
We eagerly implore,
To chase more villains o'er the plains
And spill their ruddy gore.
The hand that sent six evil knaves
Unto a far-off shore,
In other films unwritten still,
Can shoot up no more!

THE NEXT REFORM.

Californians won't really be happy till they amend the anti-alien act so as to include Iowans.

EASIER STILL.

It ought not to be necessary to deport the blondes merely because they hurt men's eyes. Why not deport peroxide instead?

TO MUCH TO DO ALONE.

Plenty of Time.

The post commander, who was given to stuttering in moments of haste, had come upon his orderly trimming the hedge, and paused to give a few instructions before hurrying to his train.

What Must He Do?

William, the footman, called his master up by telephone.

"I regret to inform you, sir, that your house is on fire," came the voice across the phone.

"What a terrible misfortune. But my wife—is she safe?" queried his master.

"Quite safe, sir; she got out among the first."

"And my daughters—are they all right?"

"All right, sir; they were with their mother."

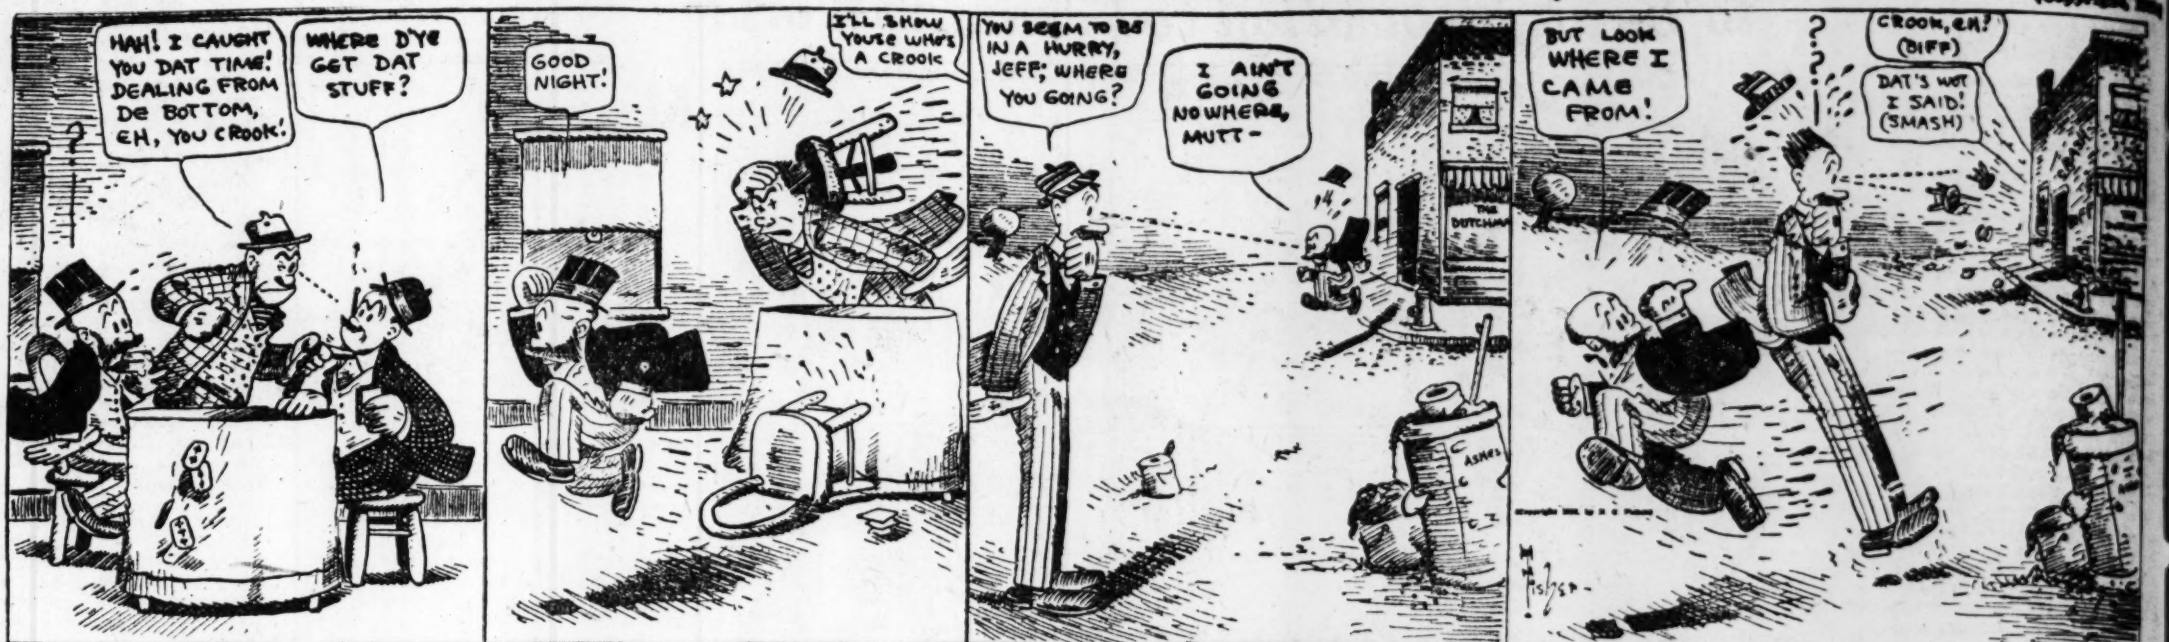

"And what about my mother-in-law?"

"That is what I want to speak to you about, sir. Your mother-in-law is asleep on the third floor, and knowing your regard for her comfort, I wasn't sure whether I ought to disturb her or not, sir."—Houston Post.
